

U. S. NAVY TO LEAD IN 1923, HE SAYS

WASHINGTON—When it comes to America's future naval power, Representative F. A. Britten of Illinois is a real optimist. He sees United States ranking first in 1923. Britten quotes positive figures to show that within three years the American navy will be 20 1/2 per cent superior to the British navy; and capable of defeating the combined navies of any three powers; not including Great Britain.

SUICIDE MAY BE LOWELL WOMAN

According to the Salem police, the woman who committed suicide by shooting Saturday afternoon in the Essex hotel in that city may be a resident of this city. Captain Atkinson of the local station received word last night about the case.

When registering at the hotel Saturday the woman gave her name as C. M. Mandell of West street, Greenfield. However, just before dying she said her real name was Gillon. Her height was 5 feet 5 inches, her weight 150 pounds and her age about 40 years. Her complexion was light and she had gray eyes. She wore gray silk stockings, a black straw hat and a coat marked with the store name, Cherry & Webb.

LETTER CARRIERS PASS UP OVERALLS

The regular meeting of the letter carriers was held in Odd Fellows hall last night. President Hunt as chairman presided over the election of delegates to the state convention to be held Sunday, May 30, in Hotel Kimball, Springfield. President Hunt and Patrick J. Owens were elected, with David H. Dwyer and Timothy J. Finnegan as alternates. Mr. Owens is the first substitute letter carrier to be elected as a delegate in 12 years.

The committee on the recent minstrel show and dance reported favorably on results and proceeds. The election of officers was made for the sick relief association. Letters will be sent to Congressman Rogers and Senators Lodge and Walsh, requesting them to urge the wage commission, now in session, to hasten their report in relation to the pay of postal employees.

In discussing the overall question, it was decided that since the material is so costly now it would be inadvisable for the letter carriers to wear overalls.

COMMENDATION FROM FEDERAL AUTHORITIES

Commendation from federal officials interested in the campaign to reduce the cost of living has been received by Humphrey O'Sullivan, supervising head of the Merrimack Clothing Co., for the action of that concern in inaugurating a "clothes at cost, plus store expenses" campaign.

Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer recently appealed to wholesalers and retailers to assist in solving the high living cost problem and as soon as the Merrimack Clothing Co. received the appeal Manager P. J. Mahoney was instructed to comply with the request. As a result, the Merrimack Clothing Co. was the first large concern dealing in men's, boys' and women's clothing to start such a campaign. It opened last Friday and will continue all this week.

Feeling fine and hearty after taking RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women.

MRS. J. MERCIER

I tried RED PILLS as I was in such a weakened condition that I was unable to keep up any longer. My working companions really pitied me and were constantly advising me to try RED PILLS. I did so, and they strengthened my constitution. I took them for quite a long while, with the satisfying result that my good health returned. I am now married and feeling fine and hearty; I have five healthy children and am able to do all my own work alone and without any difficulty, and so am quite happy. If ever I become sick again, it will be RED PILLS which I will be sure to take.

Friends of Irish Freedom Open Campaign Here

The local branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom opened a campaign for more members last evening at a well attended meeting in Hibernian hall. James O'Sullivan outlined the needs of a larger membership and greater activity in Lowell and told of a recent meeting of the national council of the Friends of Irish Freedom.

Other speakers who urged a larger membership were Stephen Flynn, chairman of the recent bond drive in Lowell, and Michael J. Sharkey. John W. Daly, former K. of C. overseas secretary, told of his visit to Ireland and described in detail the conditions existing there at that time. Activities of the British government in that country were described and in conclusion, the speaker expressed hope for the independence of Ireland in the near future.

SMILE AWHILE

BY LEE HINGSTON

Very certainly I'm willing to admit the movie's thrill, though I sometimes wish the killing pistol really packed a pill, for I'd dance if certain actors who infest this mortal scene might cease longer to be factors of my evenings at the screen. Oh, the flicker pandemonium cannot give me half the joys of the old-time melodrama that we saw when we were boys, when the hero, tall and manly, and the lovely heroine, with her shawl and smiling wily, foiled the villain's foul design. On the screen's a lot of kissing, the eternal final clutch, but Claude Montmorency's missing, and the London lights and such; Charlie cuts his funny capers and I've often say and smiled, but to hear, "Give me those papers!" "Oh, my God, where is the child?" Though the handsome hero woots her on the sheet as on the stage, and the villain still pursues her with much modern camouflage, yet we never hear the yelling of the boys "way up on high," as when Dalton was a-felling of the dastard. Hip and thigh; nor again we'll know, I'm certain, what the villain used to get as he walked before the curtain, puffing on his cigaret. Call the pictures more artistic than the sort of stuff I crave, say that being realistic is the reason why I rave, yet or ere the preacher stammer by my unrepenting dust, give me one old-fashioned dramatist, let me see it or I'll bust!

Woman Broker Says There's Very Little That Woman Cannot Do

MRS. MARY RIIS.

NEW YORK, April 28.—"As time goes on it will be increasingly the spirit, not the pretty face, that attracts and holds men."

Mrs. Mary Riis, widow of Jacob Riis, who died as he had lived, the "ideal American citizen," was at her desk in the bond office of Bonbright & Co., where she is the head of the woman's department. She had been living."

"The most encouraging thing about women is that they endure—they persist," said Mrs. Riis.

Only Limit is Physical

She believes there is nothing, or very little that a woman can not do. The only limit is physical, since they are not strong enough for certain kinds of work. But even this may be overcome, in time, Mrs. Riis thinks, by healthy living and exercise.

She herself is a slight figure of a woman, at once nervous and firmly poised, dominated by large dark eyes, bright with vital energy.

Men Choose Pretty Faces

"Sooner or later physical beauty will not be the only quality by which a woman is judged," she repeated. "At present men think first of looks. They think that is what they want, because they have never been trained to love the spiritual and gentle and simple—just as a materialistic young girl's ideal is at present a football hero."

"For myself, I pick my workers by their faces, too—but by the spiritual quality that must inevitably shine through. The woman who thinks more of her clothes and her general appearance than she does of the life of the soul, who would spend an hour powdering her nose, and only 10 minutes on a business problem, is the woman who would be sent politely from my door."

Something For Everyone

A woman is limited only as a man is limited, according to Mrs. Riis. Some are good at financial work, some at painting pictures, some at keeping tea shops—it just depends upon the particular woman.

The problem of a woman left destitute in middle age, perhaps with children to care for, was put up to Mrs. Riis.

"Let her look about her. There's something in the world for everyone," was her reply. "The ways of making a living are simply astounding. I know one woman who has made a great success of painting beads; another who dyes feathers; still another who found her salvation in her own imagination. She makes up fairy stories and tells them to school children; she goes to the best houses as an entertainer. There are as many ways of earning a living as there are people."

All Need Discipline

In speaking of the untrained woman, Mrs. Riis emphasized her belief in discipline. She believes there is always a way for anyone with real ambition, whether trained or untrained, but that every woman will be better for training of some sort.

"I believe in discipline," she said. "There's no sense in the theory that discipline hurts natural talents. And not only is it nonsense in the business world, but in the home it is invariably the disciplined woman who makes the best mother."

Same Balance Coming

That women's heads are turned with any degree of permanency by their entrance into activities hitherto considered fit only for men, Mr. Riis does not admit.

"You see, business and the successful carrying on of its work is so new to woman," she explained, "that she has become a little inflated by her new activities, but that will wear off with the passing of the years."

"The world is just beginning to get its balance, and when it finally does—well—I believe we shall have a better world for men as well as for women."

HUIR ADMITS KILLING ANOTHER "WIFE"

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 3.—In a second alleged confession, which officers were checking today, Walter Andrew Watson, alias James R. Huir, admitted killing a woman he had married but whose name he could not remember, according to Thomas Lee Woolwine, district attorney, who said the confession was made to him yesterday. This made five women the man was declared to have admitted slaying.

The district attorney said Watson told him he had married the woman in Tacoma, Wash., and that he choked her and pushed her overboard while they were boating on Lake Washington, near Seattle. He was quoted as saying he then rowed ashore leaving the woman's body in the water.

"Naturally, I told no one about it," the district attorney quoted him.

Woolwine said his investigation showed that Watson married Mrs. Beatrice Andrewatha, a Canadian, in Tacoma, on Feb. 6, 1919, and that she was said to be missing. He said he had advised Washington authorities of Watson's statement.

HEALTH MENACE

Homeless Dogs Becoming Wild in New York

NEW YORK, May 3.—Informal dispossession notices served on dogs by owners who have been compelled to move into more restricted quarters because of the housing shortage and high rents have resulted in a serious health menace in Brooklyn and Queens boroughs, the health department announced in a rabies warning issued today.

Chief Veterinarian Silkman said hundreds of dogs had been deserted by their owners and were running at large in the boroughs in imminent danger of becoming mad through hunger and other causes. Large numbers of stray dogs that have reverted to a virtually wild state, frequent the dumps in the two boroughs, he said.

MARATHON SOCIAL AND ATHLETIC CLUB

The Marathon Social and Athletic club will start immediately on the renovation of its building at 7 Hanover street, to make it appropriate for the program of activity the members have in mind. The four-story stone structure will be turned into a modern club house, embracing all the features which go toward caring for the social, educational and physical needs of the young men of the local Greek colony and inasmuch as President Peter Tsafaras and his board of directors have the united backing of the prominent business men of the colony the club seems destined for complete success.

The gymnasium will be complete in every detail. It will be 22 by 45 feet in size and will include a running track and all physical equipment necessary to thorough instruction. Teachers of physical training and boxing will be secured. Much attention will be given the club rooms to be given over to reading, education and Americanization, thus allowing this important side of club life to keep pace with the athletic program. The club recently met and chose the following officers and directors:

President, Peter Tsafaras; vice president, Jesse Economou; secretary, Geo. Frangoudis; treasurer, Alexander Galarou; directors, Andrew Pappas, Steve Stamatakis, Costas Rassias, James Zahou, John Georgakarakos and William Crenedus.

Completion of New Addition Puts St. John's Hospital in Front Ranks

After being in process of construction for more than two years in a war-torn town when all building activities were handicapped by the shortage of labor and materials, the new addition to St. John's hospital in Bartlett street will throw open its doors on Wednesday, May 12, and an invitation will be extended to the general public to inspect that one of the most modern and best equipped hospital plants in New England, if not in the entire United States.

From roof to basement the building is finished with the triple design of furnishing simplicity, utility and architectural beauty. An inspection of the four floors and basement of the structure discloses not a single unnecessary fixture or adornment; everything is designed for a useful purpose and yet forms a part of an artistically constructed building.

The addition is of practically the same size as the old St. John's hospital building with which it is connected by tunnels at every floor. The result is that the floor space of the institution has been just doubled in size and the congestion, irritating to both patients and administering force, which has been in evidence at the hospital in recent years, due to the natural growth of the city, will happily be relieved.

On May 12 the entire working personnel of the hospital will be removed to the new building and workmen will begin at once the renovation of the old structure.

The completion of the addition marks an important milestone in one of the most beneficent institutions that the city has. Organized on May 1, 1867, by Sister Emerentiana of the Sisters of Charity at the suggestion of the bishop of the diocese, St. John's hospital has continued since that day to serve the ill and suffering of every creed and class, and today, the 53d anniversary of its birth, it looks back on a career of service and usefulness in the community rarely equalled by any institution.

General Description of Addition

Like the original building, the new addition faces on Bartlett street and extends in the rear to Stackpole street, looking down upon the waters of the Merrimack. It is four stories in height, has a flat roof and in general detail follows the lines of the old building. It is finished in red brick with reinforced concrete and steel entering into various parts of its construction.

The old elevator at the southerly end of the old building has been replaced by an automatic electric elevator, propelled by the touch of a button, and encased in a fireproof wall. By its happy location, the new elevator serves equally well the needs of the new and old parts of the hospital, being midway between them.

A wide corridor runs the full length

RAID NASHUA MEETING

Two Men Charged With Advocating Overthrow of Government Held

NASHUA, N. H., May 2.—(Herald) Charges of advocating the overthrow of the government were presented in the local court today, against Herman Adler of Boston and Vincent Blason of Methuen, Mass., who were arrested in a raid at a meeting of the communist labor party here yesterday. The men pleaded not guilty and were held in bonds of $300 each.

St. John's Hospital

of the building on every floor and leading from this on either side are the various rooms for which each floor has been designed. Hardwood floors, oak finish and tiled walls form the general finish of the building's interior.

Iron stairways, in addition to the elevator service, connect each floor. The roof will be fitted out as a roof garden for patients and will give them the advantages of an altitude in which the air is clear, the pleasure of a view of the entire city and absolute quiet. As much as the elevator service extends only to the fourth floor, only those patients able to walk will be brought to the roof.

However, no matter what floor he is on, the patient will not lack fresh air and an attractive outlook for leading from each floor is a spacious piazza and sun porch, ideal for those in advanced stages of recuperation.

Description of Basement

The basement of the new building is connected with that of the old, which has already been renovated, by a tunnel. On this floor will be located the out-patient department with a waiting room, eye and ear room, a pharmacy, fitted out with a completeness suggestive of a long established drug store; a morgue, a dental clinic, surgical rooms, a gynecological room for the treatment of women's ill and an orthopedic clinic. The latter will be the first clinic of its kind to be established in Lowell and arrangements are being made with a Boston specialist to open it to the general public early in June.

The First Floor

On the first floor one side of the building, that facing on Bartlett street, is given over to double and private rooms for men patients.

On the other side is a general ward for men, with room for 12 beds and extending down the corridor are the nurses' utensil room, the sterilizing room and a room for preparing treatments as well as a linen closet and diet kitchen which are features of every floor.

The linen closets have been designed to furnish plenty of room for the storage of linen, one of the chief requisites of a hospital, while the diet kitchens are models of their kind. A gas stove, steam heating stove for keeping food warm and a tray cabinet with room for the individual tray of each patient on that floor are a few of its features. A dumb waiter, electrically propelled, leads from each kitchen. The main entrance and reception rooms are also on this floor.

The Second Floor

On the second floor is the children's general ward with six cribs and four beds in each section, one for boys and another for girls. Glass partitions separate the two and leading directly from the wards is the inevitable piazza with its inviting opportunities to look off along the river's course.

Private rooms, kitchen, toilets, bath-rooms, linen room and nurses' room—feature of every floor, are to be found ranging on either side of the corridor on the second floor.

The Third Floor

The third floor is given over to women patients. A large ward on the southern end, similar to that for men on the first floor, is on one side of the corridor and along the opposite range private rooms for women.

This ward also contains 12 beds and leads directly onto the piazza and sun porch. The rest of the floor has the usual assortment of nurses' rooms, kitchen facilities, doctors' rooms, etc.

The Fourth Floor

The fourth floor, perhaps the most important and interesting of the entire building in view of the work to be done there, will be given over to operating rooms and laboratories. There are three general operating rooms on this floor, located at the northern end of the building because northern light is considered best for operating purposes.

The operating equipment is a revelation in the delicacy and almost human devices it embraces. The operating tables were built by the Kiny-Scheerer Co. of New York and have the very latest devices for lifting and lowering a patient, turning the table at any angle and making it as flexible in the hands of the operator as a piece of reed.

Near the operating rooms is a doctors' scrub room where doctors may bathe their arms and hands without having to touch a single fixture by hand. Appliances that can be operated by knee and elbow turn on the water and in this way all danger of contagion is avoided.

Each operating room has gray Tennessee marble wallscotings extending six feet from the floor. Near the opposite end of this floor is the X-ray room with its intensely powerful appliances.

So strong are the rays used in this work that the room is lead-lined to prevent them from penetrating the floors and walls. The operator will conduct his examination from an adjacent room and will see the patient only through a small slide in the wall. A special table, ideally equipped for X-ray work, has been installed. On the opposite side of the corridor is an office and record room for the X-ray operator and also a waiting room for X-ray patients.

At the southern end of the building are two laboratories, one donated by Walter Bagshaw in memory of his wife, Margaret Josephine Bagshaw, and the other, the pathological laboratory, to be equipped by members of the local council of the Knights of Columbus. A sum of $2000 is to be raised for the purpose.

That, in brief, completes the description of the building. Adjacent to it is a boiler plant, located in what was formerly the laundry of the old building. From this plant will permeate heat through tunnels to every part of the old and new sections of the hospital as well as to the nurses' home, an entirely separate building. Radiators, so equipped that steam can be turned on or off merely by the moving of a lever, causing no bending over, will provide heat on every floor. So arranged is the heating system that half a pound of steam will send heat into every part of the plant.

The ventilating system is most modern in detail, each room having direct fresh air ventilation. Fire equipment is available on every floor, despite the fact that the building is practically fireproof and an electrical fire alarm system is an added precaution against any possible danger.

Methodist Church is facing crisis

METHODIST CHURCH IS FACING CRISIS

DES MOINES, Ia., May 2.—(Herald) The Methodist Episcopal quadrennial general conference meeting here as the most important in the history of the denomination, the address of the 24 bishops of the church, submitted to the conference yesterday, declares the church is on trial. On behalf of their denomination the bishops accept the challenge and aver that the church must determine to deal courageously with the vital questions the new age has presented.

"Never before did a general conference meet at a time like this," they said in their address. "We cannot go back to the day troubled, more simple, placid day."

"We are at a crisis in the ages. If we fall here it will not matter what else we do."

The address is devoted to answering the question: "What is our chief business at the present conference?"

It divides the question into 11 subdivisions.

"The church as a whole and in its parts has been and is under heavy fire," the address says. "It has been charged with failure to prevent war. It is charged with impotence in the current unrest and disorder. It is declared to be out of touch with modern industry, modern thought and dominant modern life. It is charged with being the champion of the obsolete, with failure to interpret Christ to personal and social life with power and fullness, with the failure to make the world's ideals or to supply the world's motives."

"There is a wholesome desire for co-operation but a reaction against ecclesiasticism. Both in Protestantism and Romanism and outside of both there is a vague widespread idea of a Christianity without a church."

In its bill of particulars, the address says:

"Of course the church will stand in unflinching, uncompromising denunciation of all violations of law; against all murderous child labor; all ton-swamp shops, all unsafe mines, all deadly tenelements, all starvation wages, all excessive hours for those who toil, all prodigious luxuries, all standard of wage and life below the living standard, all unfairness and harshness of conditions, all brutal exactions, whether of the employer or union, all over-lordships whether of capital or labor, all godless profiteering, whether in food, clothing, profits or wages; against all inhumanity, injustice and blighting inequality; against all class minded men who demand special privileges or exceptions on behalf of their class."

"Surely," the address says in its reference to world peace, "we must take strong grounds against any more wars, and against war itself as a method of settling differences. Surely, we must commit our church to the principle that international troubles shall be adjusted by council and arbitration, not by guns and slaughter of men; that the nations of the world be bound together by a working covenant of peace; that however, it shall be brought about, such compromise should be made between the president of the United States, as shall secure a real and effective League of Nations in which the United States shall have a proper and honorable place among the nations of the world in preserving the peace and bearing the burdens of the world; that narrow nationalism shall not set itself against world unity and a true internationalism; that we shall unite with the churches of all countries that are even now seeking to promote international friendship and good will; that weak nations shall not be the prey and victims of the stronger ones; and that all nations shall reduce armaments and armies, battleships and navies to a minimum consistent with safety and that the vast expenditures for fighting purposes shall be used for educational, industrial and domestic welfare instead."

"The church as a whole and in its parts has been and is under heavy fire," the address says. "It has been charged with failure to prevent war. It is charged with impotence in the current unrest and disorder. It is declared to be out of touch with modern industry, modern thought and dominant modern life. It is charged with being the champion of the obsolete, with failure to interpret Christ to personal and social life with power and fullness, with the failure to make the world's ideals or to supply the world's motives."

"There is a wholesome desire for co-operation but a reaction against ecclesiasticism. Both in Protestantism and Romanism and outside of both there is a vague widespread idea of a Christianity without a church."

ON TRIAL FOR MURDER OF HER STEP-FATHER

ST. LOUIS, May 2.—The third trial of 18-year-old Ursula Broderick, charged with the murder of her stepfather, Joseph F. Woodlock, began here today. A continuance was granted the first time her case was called for trial and at the second trial, the jury disagreed.

In 1914 Miss Broderick shot and killed her father, T. P. Broderick, and a coroner's jury exonerated her when she testified she shot in defense of her mother. The state contended at the second trial for the alleged murder of Woodlock that he was killed as he lay asleep. Miss Broderick testified she killed him when he attacked her. Mrs. Woodlock is charged with plotting her husband's death and will be tried after her daughter.

COMING IN WITH CREW OF ABANDONED CRAFT

BOSTON, May 2.—The crew of the motor schooner Risorer, who were forced to abandon their blazing vessel 250 miles east of New York yesterday, were transferred early today from the British steamer City of Canton to the coast guard cutter Acushnet. The cutter, reporting by wireless when off Gay Head on Martha's Vineyard island, said she would take the 13 men of the Risorer to New Bedford. The City of Canton continued her voyage from New York for London. The Risorer was bound from Norfolk for Denmark.

Paraders Demand Release of Bela Kun

These are Lowell Cases

CROWLEY STREET

Capt. W. A. Dolan, city fireman, 56 Crowley street, says: "I have never found anything as good as Doan's Kidney Pills. I have taken them off and on for several years. I have suffered with my kidneys mostly when I have caught cold which has settled in my back. There has usually been a constant aching there and my back has been very stiff and sore. I have bought Doan's Kidney Pills at McVoy's Drug Store and they have given me relief."

TIME STRENGTHENS CONFIDENCE

Nearly three years later, Capt. Dolan added: "I have as much confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills now as when I endorsed them before. I know they are reliable."

FERNALD STREET

Oliver J. St. Pierre, 12 Fernald street, says: "My kidneys were weak for a long time and every time I over-lifted, I had attacks of backache and sharp catches in the small of my back. My kidneys acted too frequently and annoyed me day and night. I tried different remedies, but didn't get any better. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they were what I needed, for it wasn't long before my back was well and strong and my kidneys were in a good, healthy condition."

LINCOLN STREET

Mrs. Mary Zeewitz, 108 Lincoln street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are not a new remedy to me for I have used them off and on for several years and know they will do what is claimed for them. I had attacks of kidney trouble and my back ached and pained me in a throbbing way. I felt worn out and miserable and my kidneys annoyed me by their irregular action. Doan's Kidney Pills promptly relieved the trouble. The aching left my back and my kidneys were soon in good condition. When I had any return of the trouble, Doan's Kidney Pills have always given good relief."

No Package of Doan's Kidney Pills is genuine unless it bears the maple-leaf trade-mark and the signature—Jas. Doan.

BROADWAY

Mrs. W. J. Kingsley, 10 Broadway, gave the following statement July 24, 1908: "I was a great sufferer from backache and distressing pain across my kidneys. It was a dull ache that kept me in misery. My head ached, I had spells of dizziness and I had no strength or energy. My kidneys acted irregularly. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and used two boxes. I am entirely free from backaches and the headaches and dizzy spells have also left me. My kidneys have become regular in action."

On February 17, 1919, Mrs. Kingsley said: "The cure Doan's Kidney Pills made for me has been a lasting one, as I have had no return of the trouble."

HASTINGS STREET

George A. Dickey, city fireman, 11 Hastings street, says: "I had severe pains in my back and was so sore and stiff I could hardly bend over. When I caught cold, the trouble was always worse. The kidney secretions were too free in passage and annoyed me greatly. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they regulated the action of my kidneys and my back became strong and

WOMEN OPEN DRIVE IN CONNECTICUT

NEW YORK, May 3.—A woman suffrage "driving squadron" departed today for Connecticut, where, during the next four days, suffragist orators will wage a campaign in an effort to put the state "over the top" for the final vote needed for ratification of the suffrage amendment.

After a series of meetings in various cities of the state, the delegation plans to call upon Governor Marcus M. Holcomb on Friday and again urge him to call the legislature into special session to consider the amendment. The governor has repeatedly declined to call such a session, claiming that as he interpreted the state constitution, no "emergency" existed. Proponents of the suffrage cause claim they have information showing that a majority of the members of the legislature are in favor of the amendment. "Our whole idea," said Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National Woman Suffrage association, "is not to drive Gov. Holcomb to call an extra session, but to persuade him to

GRANITEVILLE MAN MISSING FROM HOME

GRANITEVILLE, May 3.—Leroy Cummings, a life-long resident of Graniteville and aged about 60 years, disappeared from his boarding place here Saturday afternoon and despite the efforts of a searching party, under C. W. Robinson of Westford, which made a thorough search of this vicinity yesterday, no trace of him was found.

Cummings was last seen Saturday between 3 and 4 o'clock, so far as is known, but when he did not appear at his boarding house at supper or later in the evening, the authorities were notified and yesterday the searching party took up the work. Other sources of information were also consulted as it was thought Cummings might have gone visiting as he is accustomed to do. These, however, failed to yield information.

When last seen he was wearing a cap and dark clothing. He was about 5 feet, 8 or 9 inches tall and weighed between 150 and 160 pounds. His hair was slightly grayed.

This gross sales in 1919 of the United Steel corporation, for rolled and other finished products, amounted to 12,242,183 tons.

THE INTERCHURCH WORLD MOVEMENT

The interchurch world movement has been marked by progress in Lowell and, while only one church, the Chelmsford Street Baptist, has raised its quota, several others are in the midst of active campaigns which are assured of a successful outcome. It was announced yesterday that the Chelmsford street church has raised $5500, or about $200 over its quota. The First Baptist, still a short distance away from its quota, announces pledges totalling $92,625, which is by far the largest sum raised among any of the co-operating churches. When the First Baptist total reaches $100,000 an additional pledge of $15,000 will be forthcoming from one of the members. William T. Sheppard is director of the campaign.

The Calvary Baptist has raised $7500 of its $13,000 quota and the work there will be continued this week. The Fifth Street Baptist church will launch its drive for $10,000 the middle of the week.

WILL INCREASE VALUATION HERE

Increased valuation will be put on much of Lowell's real estate this year, it is believed by members of the board of assessors, although they will not take formal action on the matter until they complete their annual inspection of property throughout the city some 10 days hence.

For the past month the assessors have been "sizing up" property throughout the city and still have 10 more days' work today. According to Albert J. Blason, chairman of the board, there has been less new building in the past year than the year previous.

The work of assessing polls will continue another month and the assessors hope to be able to have the polls ready for the city treasurer on June 1.

AT THE MARINE RECRUITING STATION

The marine recruiting station in the Odd Fellows building in Middlesex street was crowded this morning with boys from 15 years to 18 years as a result of the notice that Sergeant Anderson was ready to recruit young boys of those ages for apprentices for trumpeters and musicians' mates. As it is necessary for such boys to receive parents' consent, none of them have yet been enlisted.

Sergeant Anderson did, however, enlist two new recruits for two-year enlistments. They are John Quinn of 106 Church street and Jacob Mayorian of 61 Tyler street. Both will be sent to training camp for a period of three months and then will receive assignment for some station under the guard of the Marine Corps.

DISCUSS WATER RATE INCREASE

Herbert R. Ball of the Lowell Textile school faculty will meet in conference this evening with the special committee on municipal finance of the Lowell chamber of commerce to advise the members of that committee as to the result of a survey of the city water department made by him Saturday and today in relation to the proposed 25 per cent increase in water rates. It is the wish of the committee to ascertain whether or not a 25 per cent increase is justifiable as stated by Commissioner Salmon and Robert Thomas, former superintendent, who recently completed an examination of the department.

Mr. Ball was engaged by the chamber of commerce after a conference with Commissioner Salmon, and the former hopes to have his survey completed late today and present it to the committee tonight. John M. O'Donoghue, chairman of the special committee, believes some increase in rates is justifiable and further states that the committee does not claim that a 25 per cent increase is too much, but wishes to get Mr. Ball's advice after the latter has finished his survey.

BETTER PAY FOR UNCLE SAM'S BOYS

Chief Carey of the Naval recruiting station, received notice recently that congress has enacted the legislation which affords nearly a 50 per cent increase in pay to all men in the United States navy. All enlistments, therefore, from now on will be made under the new rates of pay which compare favorably with the money earned in civilian occupations.

A recruiting party of six world war veterans will begin their two week stay in this city soon. They will come from Boston, it is expected, over the road in auto trucks owned by the navy department. The men will be under the charge of Lieut. Katz, who has seen extensive service on the seas.

Two men were signed up today at the recruiting station, both as firemen. James F. Smith, of 3 Ware street, enlisted for the first time as fireman, 3rd class, and will be sent to a training camp. Louis E. Watson of North Billerica enlisted as a fireman, 3rd class, for machinist's mate and will be assigned to a machinist's mate school.

A cement mixer, a large gang of men and a series of wooden molds in which the cement is poured give indication of progress in this direction. Despite the embargo on cement, Mr. Drapeau says he has 400 bags on hand and 100 more on the way.

Rapid progress is also being made on the new high school building in Kirk street. Practically the entire site, with the exception of a portion bordering on Anne street, has been excavated preparatory to foundation work. Steel workers are engaged in getting the huge girders which have mission.

PEACE BY RESOLUTION

U. S. Senator Walsh has rather surprised his constituents in coming out so bluntly in favor of the Knox peace resolution and against the policies of the administration relative to the peace treaty and the League of Nations. Of course he stood for the more radical reservations of the treaty, going even farther than Senator Lodge.

His attitude is, that should the democrats vote against this measure they will be accused of again blocking the declaration of peace. In other quarters, it is alleged that this peace resolve put forward by Senator Knox will not serve the purpose intended. It cannot have the effect of a treaty in securing a binding peace with Germany. Practically all that can be accomplished in this way is, a declaration by congress that the state of war with Germany and Austria is terminated. It is a function of congress to declare war, but the power to end a war and decide upon the conditions of peace is vested in the president and the senate acting in concurrence.

There is much speculation as to what the result of passing the Knox peace resolution would be. The question is asked how congress would proceed to make the resolution effective. The opponents of the measure want to know whether congress would send a delegation to notify Germany that the war was all over and to impress upon her diplomats that while we did not sign the treaty of Versailles, by this declaration of peace, we wish to bind Germany to the fulfillment of the conditions laid down in that treaty.

Certainly the proceeding is rather awkward and so far as we are aware, the course proposed would be unprecedented. After the declaration of peace would come naturally the restoration of diplomatic relations, which calls for the appointment of an ambassador and other diplomatic officials who have always been appointed by the president subject to confirmation by the senate. It can be seen, therefore, that this peace resolution falls far short of meeting the purposes of a peace treaty, laying down definite conditions and mutual relations to be followed by the appointment of the usual diplomatic functionaries.

Despite all this, however, Senator Walsh's statement that if the democrats did not vote for the Knox resolution they might be open to the charge of again opposing a declaration of peace is true. As a result of the defeat of the treaty in the senate, the president is blamed by republicans for preventing a declaration of peace. On the other hand the president blames the senate for failure to ratify the treaty in any form and on that charge he has the stronger argument. Had the senate ratified the treaty in any form the republican charge against the president would be justified.

THE MAY DAY ALARM

Happily May day passed off without any of the communistic or radical demonstrations which the Department of Justice assured the country were contemplated. Some people may say that the authorities, including Attorney General Palmer, were either unnecessarily alarmed or that they knowingly spread a false alarm. We do not believe that in times like these, any public official would descend to the expedient of crying "Wolf!" when there is no wolf. Remembering the demonstrations of last year on May 1 and undoubtedly having threats or private information of radical activities, the Department of Justice did its full duty in sending out a warning to the country. If there was any danger, the precautions taken served the purpose of defeating it; and if there wasn't, the demonstration of loyalty to constituted authority was worth all it cost.

Our own opinion is that but for the precautions taken by police authorities and big corporations there might have been outbreaks in cities or states in which the radicals are strong in numbers; but Lowell is not in this category.

It is gratifying to find that the labor union of the country are fast overcoming the influence of the radicals who entered their ranks for the purpose of promoting disturbances. This is a time when wise and conservative leadership is needed perhaps more than ever before, and the unions have already shown that they realize this fact by exhausting peaceful methods of advancing their claims before resorting to strikes. Nowhere is this condition more evident than in Lowell; and it is hoped it will be continued indefinitely.

The people who try to widen the breach between labor and capital are helping the cause of socialism. Labor must get its just dues and capital must do its full duty to labor and to the state; but the vital interests of this nation at the present hour, depend largely upon the earnest co-operation of labor and capital in promoting production as the quickest and surest method of cutting down the cost of living.

THE BONUS BILL

At the present time the indications are that the bonus bill will be defeated in congress because of the differences among the members as to how the money should be raised.

Republican leaders have made it clear that if their proposal to adopt a sales tax is not accepted by the house, they will kill the bonus bill by parliamentary tactics. Therefore, it appears that the house must accept the legislation offered by the republican leaders or else it will not have an opportunity to consider the bonus bill. It is understood that the members will be allowed to talk on the subject and then to vote on one or two propositions as dictated by the republican leaders, but they must accept the sales tax if they wish to secure the bonus bill.

In their endeavor to hold the insurgents in line, the republicans have somewhat reduced the amount of the sales tax in order to overcome the opposition, but this expedient has not been successful. The insurgents have already won many points. In the first place the republicans planned to avoid having any legislation and brought forward the bonus bill only when the insurgents and democrats forced them to consider the question. Then the leaders drafted the legislation providing a tax on turn-over sales, a tax which would encourage profiteering and add still further to the high cost of living.

Some modifications were made when it appeared that the soldiers themselves were opposed to any scheme of taxation that would seriously increase the cost of living. There is now what is tantamount to a deadlock over the matter, and as a result of the controversy over the method of raising the bonus revenue, it is possible that the whole matter will be dropped to go over perhaps till next year.

There have been various estimates of the amount that would be derived from the sales tax proposed, but on this also, there is wide difference of opinion so that the longer the question is discussed, the farther congress seems to get from a proper solution.

MARSHALL VS. BRYAN

At the present time there are indications that Vice President Marshall and William J. Bryan will advocate policies diametrically opposite at the San Francisco convention. It is announced that Mr. Marshall has a strong desire to preside over the committee on resolutions in order that he may have an opportunity to shape the features of the party platform with a view to liberalizing democratic principles or, as he himself puts it, getting "back to the time-honored principles of democracy and state rights." He is emphatic in his declaration in favor of maintaining all the rights granted the sovereign states under the constitution. Although he has not so declared, it would seem that he does not believe in constitutional prohibition nor in the rigors of the Volstead act. He believes that prohibition as now enforced is an encroachment upon the rights of the states, although the United States supreme court may declare otherwise before the date of the convention.

On the other hand, William Jennings Bryan will go to the convention determined to have a declaration in the party platform endorsing constitutional prohibition. Between Marshall and Bryan as champions of opposing policies, there will be a hot fight for supremacy and one which will probably divide the convention upon the issues involved. Recently Mr. Bryan has been losing prestige in the democratic party, while Mr. Marshall has been growing more popular, particularly in Indiana and western states.

It may, therefore, be set down as a practical certainty that Messrs.

Marshall and Bryan will furnish one of the most exciting controversies likely to engage the attention of the great convention.

HOMES FOR THE PEOPLE

Statistics show that there is little relief in the house shortage in any part of this country. Moreover the construction under way is but 20 per cent devoted to homes which is 10 per cent below normal. The lack of suitable homes adds to the prevalent discontent and anything done to relieve it will help to promote industrial peace.

The shortage of homes not only adds to the financial burdens of those least able to bear them, but adds to the industrial unrest. It is for this reason that many large corporations have undertaken to build homes for their employees, the arrangement being to sell or rent them at cost to the employees who need them most.

In this respect the corporations are doing something that is greatly appreciated by their employees. In some cases, the houses are sold on condition that the employee shall make an initial payment of 10 per cent of the cost, the balance to be paid in monthly instalments during a period of ten years, with a proviso that in case of sickness or other misfortune the time for payment will be extended. While in this part of the country very few dwellings are being constructed on account of the cost, hundreds of families are beginning to look to their employers for the necessary assistance in finding homes. The corporation that engages in such an undertaking will certainly win the loyalty and profound respect of its employees. The more home owners we have in this country, the fewer will be the number of malcontents.

KNOX ACCLAIMED

Senator Penrose of Philadelphia, recognized as the most powerful boss of the republican party, has come out with a strong statement in favor of Senator Knox as a candidate for president. Mr. Penrose, generally regarded as one of the old line republicans, states that Senator Knox is the best equipped, all-around international statesman to meet the requirements of the situation, and therefore the most eligible presidential candidate for the republican party. He allows that the recent primaries have not developed any paramount candidacy and that, therefore, it remains for the leaders to select one who in their judgment is suitable for the place. That is the custom followed by the leaders anyhow.

This declaration by Senator Penrose will undoubtedly cause considerable friction among the party leaders. Mr. Penrose with ex-Gov. Crane of Massachusetts, Senator Borah and a few others will probably dictate the nomination at Chicago. It is apparent that the old-line leaders are somewhat alarmed over the progress made by Hiram Johnson. They do not like Mr. Johnson for the reason that they do not believe they could control him either as a candidate or as president if he were elected. That is why Johnson is likely to be frozen out. As for General Wood, his effort to capture the delegates by storm is not likely to succeed and when the convention is reached, the leaders will be there to lay down the law as to the fitness and unfitness of candidates.

WOMAN DIES AS RESULT OF BURNS

Mrs. Mary A. Jameson, aged 65 years and residing at 225 Appleton street, died Saturday evening at St. John's hospital as a result of burns she received at her home earlier in the day. The cause of the accident is not known but it is believed the woman's clothing caught fire when she attempted to light a fire in the kitchen stove with kerosene, for when found shortly after 4 o'clock Mrs. Jameson was lying on a couch in the kitchen of her home her clothing nearly burned from her body, while some of the furniture and the wood work in the rear of the stove were ablaze.

Mrs. Jameson was rushed to St. John's hospital in the ambulance, but failed to rally. She leaves her husband, a son, Charles A. of this city; two sisters, Mrs. J. P. Corbett of this city and Mrs. Frederick Walsh of Boston and three nephews. Her body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

National Chamber Holds Convention—Lowell Man on Nomination Committee

W. N. Goodell, president of the Lowell chamber of commerce, who represented the local organization at the eighth annual convention of the chamber of commerce of the United States held last week in Atlantic City, N. J., was named to serve on the committee of nominations at the business session for the acceptance of reports and election of officers. The report of this committee resulted in the election of Joseph H. DeLores of Chicago as president to succeed Homer L. Ferguson, vice president of the Newport News Ship Building Corp., resigned.

On Monday of last week President Goodell sat as a councillor at a special conference to present suggestions and recommendations to the convention which continued through Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

At the first session of the convention proper at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday the recommendations of the councillors were submitted and acted upon by the delegates. The opening address was made by President Ferguson.

Each afternoon of the convention was given over to group meetings, with the privilege of selecting any one of seven groups. On Tuesday Mr. Goodell selected the group in charge of W. D. Simmons, of the Simmons Hardware Co. of St. Louis, Mo. The topic discussed was "Domestic Disruption," and among the prominent speakers were Edward A. Filene of Boston; W. O. Rutherford, vice president of the Goodrich Tire Co., of Akron, Ohio; W. H. Mann, general manager, Marshall Field & Co., Chicago, and Charles C. Parlin, manager of the department of commercial research of the Curtis Publishing Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

At 8 o'clock Tuesday evening the convention considered the general topic, "The Government in Relation to Production," and among the speakers were Joshua W. Alexander, United States secretary of commerce; Daniel C. Roper, ex-commissioner of Internal Revenue; George T. Buckingham of Chicago and George E. Roberts, vice president of the National City bank, New York city.

On Wednesday at 9:30 a. m. "Transportation in Relation to Production," was discussed and the delegates heard such men as George A. Post, president of the Standard Courier Co. of New York; John H. Pardee, president of the American Electric Railways Association; John M. Graham, general sales manager of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Co., and Admiral William S. Benson, chairman of the United States shipping board.

That afternoon Mr. Goodell, elected to attend the conference group to consider "Industrial Production." The speakers there were Dr. Charles A. Eaton, associate editor of Leslie's Weekly; R. W. Scott of the Otis Elevator Co.; Pomeroy Burton, managing director of the London Mail, London, Eng., and Hon. Henry J. Allen, governor of Kansas.

At 8 o'clock Wednesday evening the principal speaker at the convention meeting was Sir Auckland Geddes, ambassador to the United States from Great Britain. "Agriculture in Relation to Production," was the topic under discussion following the ambassador's address. On this subject Hon. Edwin T. Meredith, United States secretary of agriculture; J. R. Howard, president of the American farm bureau federation and James H. McGraw, president of the McGraw-Hill Publishing Co. of New York, were the principal speakers.

The final session of the convention was held Thursday morning, with Matthew J. Wolf, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, and Governor Allen of Kansas as the two speakers.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Friday's issue of the Lawrence Telegram comes out with the following in a special column: "Certain residents of Lowell who lose no opportunity to shoot a dart of unvelled sarcasm at Lawrence, whenever the chance comes to them, will probably be interested in the following from J. E. C. Hayes' History of Lawrence: 'On the 2nd of July, 1848, the Lowell railway being completed, five trains were run between Lawrence and Lowell conveying passengers free. Over 8,000 people were carried over during the day. It seemed as though all Lawrence was going to Lowell and all Lowell coming to Lawrence. The Essex railway, from Lawrence to Salem, was opened for travel on the 11th of September, 1848. It brought through a load of the most quiet and orderly 'solid men' of Salem, which contrasted very favorably with the multitude of turbulent men and boys who patronized the free ride from Lowell to which we have already alluded.' Evidently the ability to shoot unvelled darts of sarcasm is not limited to residents of Lowell. I was not acquainted with the people of Lowell in 1848, nor do I believe was the Lawrence Telegram scribe who cited the above article; but if the people of Lowell were a turbulent lot then as compared with those of Lawrence, it is hardly to the credit of the latter city that today the conditions are reversed.

From sentiment I have heard expressed on the matter, it would seem that the legislature would make a popular move by changing the soldiers and sailors' bonus act so that men who served with the British and Canadian forces, or, in fact, with any of the allied forces would come in under its provisions and would be exempt from the payment of a $5 poll tax for four years as are the men who served with the forces of this country. It has been pointed out that these men, in most instances, were in France before the United States even declared war. However, as matters now stand, those who served with forces other than the United States are not entitled to the $100 state bonus and must help pay, by $5 poll taxes, the cost of the bonuses distributed to the very men who fought side by side with them in France.

Bomb Plotter Ends His Life

radicals involved in the bomb outrages of last June, committed suicide early today by hurling himself from a window on the 14th floor of a Park Row office building, where the department headquarters are located.

Tazio is believed to have evaded his guard by obtaining permission to go to the wash room. While there he leaped from the window clad only in his underclothes.

The Department of Justice declined to give any further information regarding the prisoner, except to say that he had confessed to a part in the June plottings and was an important witness.

Tazio was to have been given a further examination today. It is believed that he chose death in preference to testifying against other bomb plotters.

Chief William J. Flynn, of the department, said today that Tazio was one of several anarchists who were arrested in connection with the bomb explosions of June 2 last and had been detained at headquarters as a government witness for six weeks.

The June bomb attacks included the homes of Judge Charles C. Nott of general sessions court in New York and Attorney General Palmer at Washington. Explosions took place in eight cities and resulted in the death of two persons.

Tazio's suicide revealed for the first time that any important arrests had ever been made in connection with the case.

Says "Tazio" An Alias
Chief Flynn said that the man's name was Andras Salcedo and that "Tazio" was an alias.

Salcedo, who has a wife, was arrested on March 7 with several other alleged radicals. The next day, in the presence of his attorney, he signed a confession of participation in the nation-wide June bomb plots. He admitted, according to Chief Flynn, that it was he who printed the pink circulars, copies of which were found in the vicinity of homes wrecked by the bombs. The circulars were captioned "Plain words" and were signed "Anarchist fighters." Salcedo was a printer and dweller. He was sleeping with another government witness when he got up, went to the washroom and jumped from the window without arousing his companion.

His suicide, Chief Flynn said, will not injure the government's case against other anarchists arrested for bomb explosions.

Evansville Waits For Second Act of "Rum-Ring" Drama

THIS IS "BOOZE" BOAT

That started all the trouble in Evansville

THIS IS THE CHIEF

Who bought the "Booze Boat" to run down rum runners

BY HAL COCHRAN

N.E.A. Staff Correspondent
EVANSVILLE, Ind., May 3.—Evansville is waiting a follow-up to the blow that startled the townfolk when the police boat "Fania" was caught in the act of bringing over 100 cases of whiskey from Henderson, Ky., to Evansville some months ago.

The stage for the second act of the sensational rum drama is set at Indianapolis, where federal grand jury is hearing witnesses, and where government agents expect the climax to come in the return of many indictments for the violation of the federal prohibition law.

Evidence Shows Scope
The evidence brought out at the "booze boat" trial tends to show the scope of the government's case against city officials and others supposed to have played stellar roles in the alleged liquor "plot."

Eugene McKinney, mechanician of the "booze boat," Van Plickerell, wealthy proprietor of a distillery at Henderson, Ky., Fred Schroeder, Eli Harp and his son Roy, and James Boner, Evansville gambler, were pinched on whiskey importation charges when the "Fania" was headed off, one dark night, by Sheriff Herbert Males.

Sentences, at that time, on all of the above, except Boner, were indefinitely withheld by Federal Judge Anderson, after they had pleaded guilty.

"Whenever we want you we'll send for you," Judge Anderson said.

Chief Denies Knowledge
Boner has just finished serving a five months' term in Marion county jail. When McKinney pleaded guilty, at the same time Boner was convicted, he testified that he was not the only member of the "police force," even though he was in charge of the police boat.

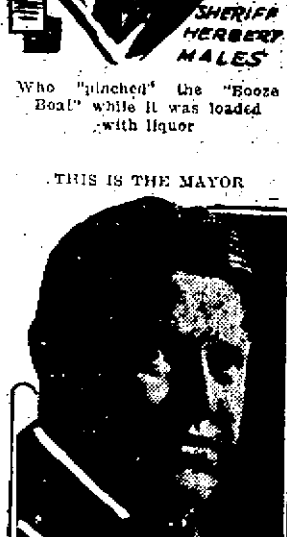

Chief of Police Schmitt's story, at that time, was that he knew nothing of the officers bringing in the liquor, and that the boat was not the police boat.

boat at the time it was picked up by the sheriff.

In the present federal investigation at Indianapolis, United States Agent George W. Green expects to land general conspiracy indictments which will hit everyone who knowingly bought or sold liquor for interstate delivery, who helped to bring it over, paid money for bringing it, agreed to furnish it, or who entered into a scheme of protection from molestation by officers of the law.

Mayor Benjamin Bosse of Evansville, in discussing the government's probe, says: "If there was anything unlawful going on in Evansville, I know nothing of it."

If indictments are returned by the grand jury at Indianapolis the last of April, as is expected, it is understood that Marshal Storen himself will serve the warrants for arrests.

Method Used Before
He will establish headquarters at Evansville, it is said, for serving the capias and arranging bond. This was the method used by Storen in the famous Evansville election conspiracy cases in 1917.

WELL, 'TIS BETTER LATE THAN NEVER
The street department opened its 1920 paving season today when a gang of 11 men began tearing up a portion of Fletcher street preparatory to smoothing paving it. One side of the street was completed last year, but owing to the exhaustion of funds the other side was left incomplete and has proved a source of inconvenience during the winter and spring. The job is expected to last from three to four weeks.

FIRE LOSSES IN STATE DARLING WINS HIGH JUMP SHOW DECREASE IN BOSTON MEET

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 3.—Fire losses in this state showed a decrease of nearly $1,000,000 during the year 1919 as compared with the previous year, according to figures made public today by George C. Neal, the state fire marshal.

Relatively speaking, the city of Boston made the poorest showing of the three districts into which the commonwealth is usually divided for the purpose of comparing fire losses, while that portion of the state which is not included in the metropolitan fire prevention district made the best.

The total fire loss for the state was $19,064,326.61 during 1919, as compared with $19,947,759.97 for 1918, a reduction of $1,947,759.97.

For the state outside of the metropolitan fire prevention district the figures were $7,025,032.87 in 1918, and $6,751,748.21 in 1919, a reduction of $1,293,864.66, or 18.6 per cent.

With the metropolitan district except Boston included, the figures were $9,161,422.26 in 1918, and $7,499,936.31 in 1919, a reduction on 18.2 per cent.

For the city of Boston the figures were $2,837,862.22 in 1918 and $2,806,991.38 in 1919, a reduction of $246,870.84, or less than 9 per cent.

This increase in Boston is partially accounted for by the fact that the city had 1918 fires last year, an increase of 155 over the previous year, while outside of Boston there were 6054 fires, a decrease of 54.

HOYT.
 Eighty per cent of the firemen in the United States at present are paid less than $20 a week.

Brock Darling, Lowell high school high jumper, won this event in Boston on Saturday at the open relay carnival games held on University Heights under the auspices of Boston College high school. The Lowell boy had a winning leap of 5 feet 8 inches. He defeated Flasher of H.C. high school and Carson of Brookline, the latter being the boy who took the Lowell jumper's measure at the state championship games at the East armory in March.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—"Hope was feeling fast. Just as the last barricade was falling a trap door suddenly opened beneath their feet and they were thrown heavily into the darkness below."

Sounds like a movie but it isn't. This was the experience of Mrs. James B. Blum who, with her husband, was caught in the thick of a battle between Chinese revolutionists and federal troops at Canton. They took refuge behind a brick wall, and were saved from certain death in the manner described above. ## BREAK ON ADRIATIC QUESTION IMMINENT

ROME, May 2.—Negotiations between Vittorio Scialoja, Italian foreign minister and Anton Trumbitch, foreign minister of Jugo-Slavia, looking to the settlement of the Adriatic question, may be broken off, according to the Popolo Romano. Signor Scialoja returned here from Lake Maggiore, where he had been conferring with M. Trumbitch and Stoyan Protitch, Jugo-Slavian premier, on Saturday, and the newspaper asserts the representatives of Jugo-Slavia have informed the Italian foreign minister that they were no longer authorized to negotiate on the Adriatic question on the basis of conversations which have been going on.

It is understood President Wilson's plan for a settlement of the future status of Fiume had been adopted at the meeting of the Italian and Jugo-Slavian representatives.

Through the winter the blood accumulates poisons because you do not perspire enough, because you do not live in the open air, and because you eat more meat, much and other rich foods. Every spring we feel sluggish, constipated, liver and kidney ill, head aches, colds and chronic coughs, pimples, boils and carbuncles, all evidence of impure, thick, sluggish blood.

Sulphur Tablets (not sulphur tablets) are composed of extracts of roots and herbs, combined with sulphur and cream of tartar—and no better physic, blood-purifier and blood cleanser has ever been developed. Every spring thousands who already know their value take them to purify the system of Winter Poisons. Now is the time to begin, so you won't be attacked by serious ailments when Spring and Summer come. Sold by all druggists 50c per sealed tube with full directions.

THE WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION LAW

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 3.—A person who works for another with his own horse and team and is employed by reason of his ownership of the equipment has no rights under the workmen's compensation law, according to a decision of the industrial accident board. Such a person is regarded by the board as an independent contractor and not as an employee within the meaning of the act.

The decision was rendered on a claim of John Rycek of Adams, who sought compensation for having been injured in the course of his work for the Enos Adams company. Last December, Rycek, whose ordinary occupation was farming, let his services and those of his two horses and team to the Adams company for the purpose of hauling stone. Part of the route to the railroad line where the stone was being hauled lay over two hills, one of them very steep. He expressed to the foreman unwillingness to drive the heavy loads of stone down

Little Change in Paris Strike

PARIS, May 3.—The strike situation in this city was generally stationary at the north and east stations this morning, only about 50 per cent of the usual number of trains being in operation. At the St. Lazare station, traffic was affected more seriously. Virtually no freight trains were moving during the forenoon.

The steamer hill but, he contended, asserted on receiving from the foreman assurance that if an accident happened the company would settle handsomely. It is interesting to note that this alleged promise on the part of an agent of the company was not even taken into consideration in the board's decision. After a serious accident had been narrowly averted he was again assured that the company would recompense him if an accident should occur, he claimed.

On Dec. 31, while Rycek was driving an extra heavy load down the hill with the wheels of the team tied, the brake on the wagon broke. He was pulled from his seat by the reins he was gripping and thrown beneath the team. He further alleged the foreman and some other workers refused to pick him up from the road and he lay there for an hour and a half when some passersby took him to a shanty. His left side was found to be severely lacerated, several muscles were torn, and blood vessels injured. He was under the doctor's care for six months and his right arm has been permanently deformed.

The decision of the accident board is in part as follows:
 The claimant is not an employee

They Have Found the Way to Beautiful Teeth

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

Dental science has found a way to combat film on teeth. It has been tested for years by able authorities in clinical and laboratory tests. Now leading dentists everywhere advise its daily use.

The method is embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. This week we offer a 10-Day Tube to every home in this city, and we urge every home to get it. Let it prove itself.

Film is What Discolors

You can feel on your teeth a slimy film. It is ever-present, ever-forming. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays.

The tooth brush doesn't end it. The ordinary dentifrice cannot dissolve it. So it accumulates and may do a ceaseless damage.

Most tooth troubles are now traced to that film. And now it is known why brushed teeth still discolor and decay. The reason lies in that clinging film which the old cleaning methods omit.

Cause of Decay

That film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Thus the film is the teeth's chief enemy.

It Can Be Ended

Dental science has for years sought a way to end that film, and the way has now been found.

Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to constantly combat it.

The way seems simple, but it is not. Pepsin must be activated. The usual method is an acid harmful to the teeth, so pepsin long seemed impossible.

What has been found is a harmless activating method. Now pepsin can be applied twice daily and left between the teeth. And millions of teeth are now being cleaned as they never were before.

Watch the Effects

We ask you to watch the effects. Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how teeth whiten as the fixed film disappears.

Compare this method with the old. Read the facts about it. Then decide for yourself what is best.

Tartar and Stain are based on film. This 10-Day Tube will show you that they are avoidable. And so is tooth decay.

Look in Ten Days
 See how white the teeth are—how they glisten. You can see that the film is gone. You will know that teeth can be kept forever whiter and cleaner and safer.

Pepsodent

SMALL FRUITS AND BERRIES

The following article on planting small fruits and berries was prepared by the Middlesex county bureau of agriculture and home economics:

Small fruits and berries should be planted as early in April or May as the ground can be prepared and the plants obtained. Strawberries are ordinarily planted in rows about 20 to 24 inches apart, 18 to 20 inches apart in the row. Care must be exercised to plant them just right, so that the crown is not too deep; it should be just even with the surface of the ground. Ordinarily four plants are saved from runners of each mother

"TIME" FOR U. S. TO STEP OUT AND CLAIM ANOTHER CHAMPIONSHIP

JERSEY CITY—"America First" again! Just when it was generally believed that the world's largest timepiece was located in Westminster Tower in the British house of parliament, along comes Jersey City with a clock that says, "Pooh, pooh" to the belief. The Colgate clock here weighs about six tons, the face is 38 feet in diameter and it has an area of 1,134 square feet. (Note arrow pointing to man climbing up dial.) The minute hand is about 20 feet long and weighs a third of a ton. It travels at the tip between 23 and 24 inches each minute or more than half a mile a day. The weight that causes the hands to revolve weighs a ton. What time is it? Time to claim another championship for U. S.!

THE BIRD-OF-PARADISE

The brown bird (who said she was the Bird-of-Paradise) was so delighted at the picture of herself—as she was going to be when she was fixed up—that she kept saying, "Won't I look wonderful! Won't people be astonished when they see me looking like that!"

"Why?" said Nancy in surprise. "Don't you always look like that when you haven't on your brown travelling clothes? That's what you said a while ago."

"Oh, yes! I forgot," said the bird. "Of course I do. Now please begin on my new dress at once, will you? I didn't come to Scrub-Up Land to talk!"

So Nick and Nancy and Rubadub, the fairyman, got busy right away primping up the stranger, who said she was the Bird-of-Paradise.

First of all they painted her bill sky blue (just like the picture), then her feet they made a lovely pink (just like the picture, too). Her body they colored purple, and white and gold and green, and then fastened long orange-colored plumes below her wings (all just like the picture).

Last of all they shook gold and silver powder over her, and behold what a gorgeous creature the little brown bird had become! Cinderella changed into a princess!

All at once she caught a view of herself in the mirror. "Oh!" she cried, "is that really me?" Then sharply, "Open the shutters, somebody. How do you expect me to see in this awful gloom?"

"But you said the light hurt your eyes," reminded Nick.

"Well, what if I did? They're better!"

Good gracious, do I have to explain everything I do?"

"My! my!" remarked the Magical Mushroom, "some people do certainly change their manners with their clothes, don't they?"

"Do stop talking!" answered the bird haughtily, "and show me how to hold up my train. I must be going."

BOOSTING ORDINANCE FOR WATER RATES

An ordinance providing for an increase in Lowell's water rates as recommended by former Supt. Robert J. Thomas will be presented to the municipal council for action at its regular meeting tomorrow morning by Commissioner John F. Salmon.

Just how great an increase is to be effected or when it is to become operative has not yet been divulged. At last Tuesday's meeting Commissioner Salmon presented the council an exhaustive report of the department's condition, financial and physical, with the request that the members study it between then and tomorrow's meeting. In the meantime, City Solicitor William D. Regan has been drafting the proper ordinance to cover the proposed increase and this will be ready for action tomorrow.

Three generations have bought Eddy Refrigerators. If there has been one used by any members of the family you can't sell them anything else. It lasts a life-time and pays for itself many times over by requiring less ice than a cheaper make would. Why buy anything else. Use less ice and keep food better. The chests are priced from $12.75 to $56.00. The Refrigerators from $22.00 to $92.00. A good family size for $36.00 and $43.50.

MINNIE WILDE A WONDER CHANEY AND DE FOE ARE CLEVER BOXERS

British Flyweight Shows Remarkable Ability in Kayoing Dyson in One Round

Young Chaney of Baltimore who recently defeated Bobby Joseph at Boston, and who has victories over Benny Valger, Johnny Dundee and Frankie Brown to his credit will meet Billy De Foe in the main bout of 12 rounds at the Crescent A.A. on Thursday night.

This match is looked upon as one of the best of the season and plans are being made to accommodate a large crowd. Before his first appearance here over a year ago made many friends by his great work against Al Shubert. A couple of weeks ago he put up a wonderful exhibition against Minnie Wilde. He was outwitted by the Lowell boy, but despite the handicap he fought the battle and gave the Lowell crowd one of the hardest nights of his career.

This will mark Chaney's first local appearance, but many have been anxious to see him perform after his clean cut win over Joseph a few weeks ago.

"My only regret is that Downes was not in there against me instead of Parker," said Minnie Wilde yesterday while commenting on his impressive victory over Parker at the Crescent A.A. on Thursday night. "If he had been there I would have been in search of another 'meal ticket' I jumped at the chance to meet Downes and will continue challenging him until he meets me or admits that he cannot make the lightweight limit. He is posing as a lightweight champion, and I stand ready to meet him any time at the 12 round mark."

"Another thing I would like to say is that I also am anxious for another crack at Frankie Britt, who is recognized as the holder of the New England lightweight title," Boyle continued. "I feel that my exhibition against Britt here a few months ago, when about everything in the box was eliminated, said I really earned the award, and I am ready to accept it. If both Britt and Downes, the two most prominent men in the class in New England continue to evade me, I intend to win the title and defend it against all comers."

"You can tell the world," added Boyle, "that with Jack Leahy, the great trainer in the game, now looking after me, I am ready to tackle any lightweight in the business."

The defeat of Parker, however, proved a big boost for Boyle. Parker had a K.O. over Boyle to his credit and by winning out that mark Boyle has eliminated another one from further consideration. The win gave Boyle two victories out of three bouts with Parker. Another man Boyle would like to take on is Tony Viera of New Bedford. Viera last week defeated Ralph Brady and immediately his manager sent out word that he was in the hunt for the lightweight title. Boyle has met Viera before and feels that he can hang a defeat on to him. He states that if matched with the New Bedford boy, another contender will be eliminated.

LOWELL GETS EARLY LEAD ON MANCHESTER

Lowell high got the jump on Manchester high at Spaulding park Saturday afternoon and after piling up seven runs in the first inning, cantered through the remainder of the game. To win by the score of 8 to 2. Ordway was none too good in the opening frame either, when the visitors scored twice and threatened to drive him from the box, but after that he steadied perceptibly and for the last eight innings let them down with three hits and no runs.

Foster, a southpaw, was the first Manchester pitcher, but he had nothing and was replaced by Foley after five runs had been scored with only one out. Cahill, first batter, was hit by a pitched ball. Reynolds singled sharply to left and when the fielder momentarily fumbled the ball Cahill dashed for third. He was cut down, however, Gates to Foley. O'Hare singled and Reynolds scored when the Manchester catcher lost Connel's peg to the plate. Brosnan walked. Ordway doubled up against the left fielder, O'Hare scoring, and Brosnan wheeled around a third. McAdams hit in front of the plate and Brosnan was caught on the line between third and home. He scored, however, when Hamor threw wild in an attempt to run him down. Gleason singled over short and McAdams counted when Gates threw a mile high over his catcher's head. Condon fanned. Ordway walked and stole. Gleason scored on Cahill's hit and Ordway followed the former across the plate when Hamor kicked in with his third error of the inning. Marston threw out Reynolds for the third out.

Manchester scored twice in the first half of the inning before the local team found its sea legs. Marston opened with a single to right; King was safe when Cahill dropped Brosnan's throw. Marston stole third. Marston was safe at the plate on Kennedy's infatigable tap. He stole second. Hamor fled out to O'Hare. King scored when Liston and Kennedy let Red's throw go through them. Foley hit to Cahill and Kennedy was thrown out trying to score. Cahill to Liston. Liston's peg to Reynolds at second broke up Foley's attempt to steal and put a stop to Manchester's run-getting.

Lowell scored in the second and again in the sixth, but with Ordway pitching in fine form, the extra runs were not needed. Foley, who replaced Foster in the box for Manchester, allowed only two hits after the first inning.

POLO LEAGUE MEETING

Pennant Awarded to Providence Club—Fred Moore Re-elected President

PROVIDENCE, May 2.—The annual meeting of the American Polo League was held here yesterday, with representatives of the six polo teams present. The meeting was presided over by the following:

Following the dinner the meeting opened with President Fred M. Moore presiding. The election of officers resulted in the re-election of Mr. Moore as president, this being his fourth successive term. Daniel P. Dilsdorf of Fall River was the choice for vice president and William P. Perrier of Providence was chosen for the fourth time to act as secretary-treasurer.

The pennant for the past season was officially awarded to Providence. The schedule for the coming season was adopted, to embrace a playing period from Sept. 15 to April 30, making 52 weeks for the season. This will mean 150 games, with 75 at home and a like number abroad.

The league considered the application of several clubs for admission, without final action and will probably be taken up at the July meeting of the officials. It was decided, however, that the polo league will be made up of eight clubs, instead of six, during the coming season.

Salem had two protested games which the meeting considered, and it was voted to uphold the referee in his decisions in both contests. These games were with New Bedford and Worcester and Salem lost its protest in both cases.

BODY OF EKLUND FOUND IN POND NEAR TAUNTON

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 2.—The body of Oliver L. Eklund, Providence taxicab driver, who disappeared a week ago last night while taking two men from this city to Taunton, Mass., was found early last evening in a shallow pond near the old Taunton Fair grounds.

Medical Examiner Charles A. Atwood, acting on orders from District Attorney Joseph P. Kennedy, of New Bedford, performed an autopsy upon the body which he completed shortly after midnight. Dr. Atwood refused to make public his findings, saying that they would be submitted to the district attorney.

The body was found face down in about 20 inches of water, 24 feet from the shore, by two Taunton Boy Scouts and was identified shortly after it was brought ashore by Irving Eklund of this city, a brother, whose machine Oliver Eklund borrowed last Sunday to make the trip to Taunton. The body was fully clothed, even to overcoat and gloves. Only the cap, which had previously been found in the car, was lacking.

The small pond in which the body was found is about a quarter of a mile from the point on the Rocky Woods road where two keys and some money from Eklund's pockets were found last Tuesday. It is about the same distance from the place where Dr. James J. Conroy, a Taunton dentist, reported that last Sunday evening he saw a man stumbling through the bushes along the roadway, holding his head in his hands. A hurried examination of the body, made by Medical Examiner Charles A. Atwood of Taunton, showed that Eklund had been struck on the back of the head with a blunt instrument. The blow, Dr. Atwood thought, had not been sufficient to kill Eklund. His belief is that the taxi driver was struck and thrown out of his machine and, dazed, stumbled through the underbrush into the pond and drowned.

The autopsy is expected to show the seriousness of the head wound and to determine whether or not Eklund's death was due to drowning. The body was found about a week after it was taken from this city to Taunton, Mass., was found early last evening in a shallow pond near the old Taunton Fair grounds.

POLICE COURT

Two Automobilists Arraigned on Charge of Drunkenness

Twelve cases were called at this morning's session of the police court, but business in each was brisk. Over the week-end eight drunks were released by the probation officer.

The case of Wladyslaw Taraszkewicz, charged with being drunk and operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor and who was released yesterday under $300 bail, was continued to May 10. It is alleged that Wladyslaw was driving his auto along Westford street and collided with another at the intersection of Smith street, and that his machine then slid into another. This second machine, struck was pushed into another machine just ahead of it. Taraszkewicz's automobile escaped without damage. The other machines struck were owned by George K. Hill of 810 Varnum avenue, Albert Adams of Titliston street, Chelmsford Centre, and Adelbert Ames of Lowell street, Chelmsford Centre. The machine owned by Hill was badly damaged and he and a companion, Axel H. Abrahamson, were cut about the head and face. The accident occurred yesterday afternoon.

Another Collision

The case of Omer Savignac, of 236 West street, charged with operating his automobile while under the influence of liquor yesterday afternoon, was continued until May 11. Savignac's machine collided with the machine owned by David Cohen of 380 Terry street, Malden, at Chelmsford and Westford streets yesterday afternoon. The Cohen machine was damaged about the mudguards and engine and its occupants claimed that they had to drive nearly up to the sidewalk to avoid Savignac.

Larceny Charge

Abraham J. Lewis of Boston was charged with the larceny of $53 from the person of Parasag Havaspian, and his case continued until May 11. It is alleged that Lewis had an accomplice in his act which was committed at Havaspian was boarding a train at the Middlesex street depot.

Other Offenses

Charged with being present during a game on the Lord's day, George B. Brown, Agnes Paloungos, Harry Hailos and Samuel Albert pleaded guilty and were released upon payment of $1 fines.

David J. Williams of Tewksbury brought suit against William C. Ross of Charlestown, whom he claims borrowed an auto chain from him and never returned it. Ross' truck, it seems, during the winter became stuck on the Boston road in the snow and mud and Ross secured the loan of a chain from Williams. Ross claims that he gave the chain to the care of an employee of an express company to be returned to the owner.

After considerable protestation by the defendant, the court decided that inasmuch as Ross had ample time to obey the instructions of the clerk of the court in obtaining witnesses, and had failed to do so, the case should be completed today and as imposed a fine of $10. Ross appealed the case and was held in $200 for his appearance on the first Monday in June. Before imposing the fine, the court gave the defendant another chance to continue the case to obtain his witnesses, but he refused.

The case of William Stack, charged with larceny from the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company, called today for further consideration, was dismissed. George F. Toye, for the defense, brought in the argument that the alleged larceny could not have been made from the Eastern Massachusetts street railway because that company was not in existence at that time.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

An important meeting of the executive committee and division and team leaders of the Salvation Army home service fund campaign has been called for 7:30 o'clock this evening at the chamber of commerce rooms. As this is the first meeting since the outline of the campaign organization, it is hoped that every leader will be present.

TAKES FOUR YEARS TO COME FROM INDIA

MONTREAL, Cal. May 3.—It took Fr. Peter Hipp just four years to get from India to California, and now that he's here with the old padre he says he's going to stay.

The aged priest was chaplain to a British regiment in Bengal when the war broke out. Being a German the Indian papers caused his resignation. The war department told him he could go anywhere he wished, and he chose California. His nationality was such a handicap for him that he had to spend months in Hong Kong, where he was the only German to walk the streets free during the war, and to remain in Manila till the armistice was signed. From Manila to Monterey it took him over a year because of passport difficulties.

Gives Credit Through the Land

"Backache, lame and stiff muscles and rheumatic pains are often symptoms of kidney trouble," said a doctor who had been treated by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. "I could not sleep well and my back pained me awfully. I had a dizzy feeling in the morning. Since taking Foley Kidney Pills have been relieved of all such ailments." They rid the system of the poisonous acids that cause aches and pains.

TEIPER NOT GUILTY

Jury Returned Verdict in Murder Trial After Deliberating for 71 Hours

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 3.—The jury in the case of John Edward Teiper this morning returned a verdict of not guilty.

The jury had been out since Friday morning at 11:14 o'clock. All of the nearly 71 hours was spent in considering the evidence brought out at the trial, which like the first trial, was based on an indictment charging Teiper with the murder of his mother, Mrs. Anna M. Teiper.

The murder of Mrs. Teiper and her son, Frederick, occurred on the road between Orchard Park and Buffalo, on the night of Sunday, Jan. 30, 1916, after a visit of the Teiper family to the home of John Edward in Orchard Park. The first trial resulted in a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree. Teiper was sentenced to life imprisonment. He appealed and the appellate division ordered a new trial.

MAYOR WILL ATTEND

Mayor Perry D. Thompson has been invited to attend the formal opening of the new addition to St. John's hospital on Wednesday, May 12. He will accept the invitation.

A Builder, Not a Bracer

After any conflict, there follows a period of what is called reconstruction, during which time and effort are devoted to clearing away the debris of battle and readjustment of daily routine to the normal standard. An attack of influenza, pneumonia, or in fact of any severe bronchitis, leaves many cases of severe bronchitis, leaves the body weakened, the tissues clogged with products of inflammation, the breathing passages inflamed and irritated. To overcome this condition requires time. It also calls for activity and power to act vigorously on the part of the blood and many body cells. Imperishable blood, weakened or tired cells must be properly nourished in order to act efficiently. Hence food is the best medicine. Nature has provided certain food substances, which serve a double purpose, to nourish and to stimulate repair. Such are known as food-medicines. One of these is particularly serviceable, because, unlike ordinary food, which has to be broken up, split into simpler forms and minutely subdivided, by what we call digestion, it is supplied by Nature in the most easily made use of form. Human knowledge and ingenuity have found a way to still further prepare this food-medicine for immediate use. Cleverly devised machinery still further splits up this food-medicine into such minute particles as to require the microscope to see them as such, and which can be immediately taken up and made use of by blood and body cells. This explains why Father John's Medicine is so valuable and so effective when used to build up and reconstruct the blood and the rest of the body not only after an attack of flu, pneumonia or other affection of the breathing apparatus, but also in any condition of the body following disease, in which reconstruction is necessary. Father John's Medicine contains no drugs, no alcohol, nothing to impart temporary or false stimulation. It builds up instead of bracing up. It is pleasant to take, prompt to act. It does not disturb digestion, it improves it. Father John's Medicine has been tried and time proven for over sixty years. Thousands of people take it and recommend it to their friends. Try it and be convinced by actual experience.

35 MORE HUNGER STRIKERS RELEASED

BELFAST, May 3.—(By Associated Press)—Thirty-five more hunger strikers were removed from the Belfast jail to a hospital yesterday, making 65 who have been released in the past two days. There are now 35 hunger strikers in the prison.

George Murnaghan, a solicitor of Omagh, whose father represented the Mid-Tyrone district in parliament for 15 years, was arrested by the military this morning and brought to Belfast. He was election agent for Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein organization, in Northwest Tyrone at the general elections. Dr. Stuart, health officer at Bellurist, County Cavan, also has been arrested.

In Londonderry Saturday night Constable Peter Henley was shot through the leg while on his beat. A party of police which hastened to the scene of the shooting was fired on. One of the policemen was struck by a spent bullet, but not hurt. The police returned the fire of the attacking party, but all escaped.

ON INTERSTATE TIME

Commerce Commission May Have to Decide for B. & M.

Special to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 2.—The interstate commerce commission has been called on to decide whether or not it has the right to interfere in the running of trains through New Hampshire on the daylight saving schedule of Massachusetts or whether trains must conform to standard time when passing through that state. Senators Moses and Keyes of New Hampshire have appealed to the commission to restrain the Boston and Maine from using Massachusetts time in that state and the commission has had the matter under consideration several days. It is waiting the decision of its legal branch as to whether the commission or the courts of New Hampshire are the proper bodies to which appeal should be made. The senators called attention to the fact that the Maine Central and Grand Trunk passing through New Hampshire are using standard time and that farmers and commuters are greatly inconvenienced and hampered in their work by the delay and confusion which results.

If the commission decides it has the right to interfere the New Hampshire senators will advise Gov. Bartlett to immediately prepare a petition in due form to be presented to the commission asking that the Boston and Maine and its lines return to standard time in passing through that state.

No Lowell cases were set for trial in the superior civil court here today.

Mr. and Mrs. Alme Roy of Florence avenue are rejoicing over the birth of a son, which occurred yesterday.

A full eclipse of the moon was scheduled for last night and undoubtedly occurred, but rain-soaked clouds hid the phenomenon from the eyes of Lowell people. According to astronomical records, the earth's shadow was to begin crossing the moon's face at 6:49 o'clock and not until 12:53 a. m. would it again shine in full splendor.

The board of directors of the Lowell chamber of commerce were taken through the local telephone building today on a tour of inspection by Manager Charles J. Leathers. The trip included a visit to all parts of the exchange and was particularly interesting to many of the directors who had never seen the inside workings of the plant.

Despite the fact that May day passed quietly here and that the threatened radical outbreaks and demonstrations failed to materialize, police surveillance will not be relaxed until after the 10th of the month at least and tactical units will continue their systems of police guard duty. The men of the police department have gone back to their regular shifts, but a few extra men have been put on as a precautionary measure.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, take this means of expressing our heartfelt thanks to all our relatives and friends who by their many acts of kindness and words of consolation helped to lighten our burden of sorrow in our recent bereavement. We also wish to thank all those who sent spiritual and floral offerings.

RECRUITING FOR OLD BATTERY F

Recruiting for Battery B (formerly Battery F) of the 102d Field Artillery, 26th (FD) division, will begin tomorrow night at the Westford street armory.

Capt. W. C. MacBrayne, battery commander, will be assisted in signing up the new men by Lieut. Wilbur Berry, Lieut. Albert Gustafson and Lieut. Edward J. McNeerney and several former non-commissioned officers of artillery and infantry.

In a statement today, Capt. MacBrayne said:

"It is evident that a great deal of interest is being shown in Lowell's new combat unit. No infantry companies will be assigned here in the reorganization of the national guard, and as the state guard is soon to be mustered out, a great deal depends upon the character of the new organizations.

"The kind of men I want in the new battery will be a credit to Lowell, upon every occasion. The days of tin soldering is past. We belong to a division that lost some 12,000 men in battle over on the other side. We helped make its reputation. The boys of Lowell feel that they own the division. It is theirs. That's the sort of spirit which will make Battery B one of the best in the 102d regiment.

"Every man who enlists on this basis will be 100 per cent. American. No others need apply."

20,000 STRIKE

37 Cloth Mills Affected by

This Morning

Unrest Reported in Other
New England Textile Centers—Seek Wage Increase

United Textile Workers to Demand 17½ Per Cent Increase Throughout N. E.

NEW BEDFORD, May 3.—The strike which was called at 10 of the textile corporations in this city, went into effect this morning at 37 cloth mills, affecting practically 20,000 operatives engaged in those plants. The walkout was occasioned by the posting of notices relative to the new working conditions to which objection was taken by the loomfixers, in which they were later supported by the textile council. Special details of police were on duty at all the mills affected and the crowd of pickets were kept moving and were not allowed to molest such of the operatives as reported for work.

Early reports from the various sections state that although the mills all opened up their gates, a very small percentage of the workers reported, and in many instances left the mill a few minutes later.

Pierce Brothers, Ltd., and the Grinnell Manufacturing Co., were the first plants in the city to be closed entirely owing to the scarcity of workers reporting this morning.

At textile labor headquarters, it was stated that 15,000 of the 20,000 affected by the strike vote had answered the call, the figures being based on the reports of the 40 pickets posted outside the mill gates. Acting Secretary T. O. Nicholson of the Manufacturers' association stated that more operatives had reported at the mills than had been anticipated, while more were coming in later in the forenoon.

Labor officials stated that the mill fixers were only keeping up 30 pounds of steam at the plants in order to ensure safety of life and property.

Unrest in Other Cities
BOSTON, May 3.—The textile industry in New England faced disturbance today. New Bedford was the scene of a strike of approximately 20,000 union cotton mill operatives, and there was a probability that the 18 corporations owning the mills from which their strike would adhere to their announced intention of closing the plants.

The New Bedford strike was called in support of loomfixers who have been out several weeks in protest against being required to care for a larger number of looms than formerly. The operatives called out are employed in mills with a weekly payroll of $337,600, and having 80,317 looms and 1,936,662 spindles. The three cotton mills not affected are the Nashawena, Passaic and Boacorn. The yarn mills also are not affected.

Mayor Charles S. Ashley announced that he had been unsuccessful in an effort to arrange a conference between the textile council and the Manufacturers' association. Demands for a 50 per cent increase in wages have been voted by the various unions of the New Bedford Textile Council but are being withheld for the present.

Reports from other textile centers indicated a state of unrest. Reports from Providence said that demands for a flat increase of 17½ per cent, effective May 31, in wages of all textile workers in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut would be made by the national executive board of the United Textile Workers of America. Thomas F. McMahon, vice president of the organization, said a statement explaining the situation would be made later in the day.

BURLINGTON, Vt., May 3.—At least two dead and an unknown number injured is the toll as the result of the collapse of three walls of the W. C. Hoag toy factory at 1 o'clock today. A weakened second floor structure is believed to have been the cause of the accident.

A tumbling wall caught a fire truck, hastening on its way to answer an alarm, badly injuring one of the firemen. Many more persons may be dead and buried under the debris as it is not known how many were in the building at the time.

An hour after the collapse, there was no definite word available as to the number of persons who may have been on the second or first floors of the factory during the lunch hour when the second floor fell through.

CITY IS SAFE DISTANCE FROM DEBT LIMIT

The city of Lowell today stands $125,716.08 from the debt limit, having reached that mark by a healthy jump on May 1. On April 1 it was only $67,000 away. However, there are a number of projects under contemplation which will speedily cut down the distance if the municipal council votes to carry them through.

One is the borrowing of $15,000 for the elimination of a dangerous corner at Locke and Gorham streets, as petitioned for some months ago by a large number of residents in that section. The mayor and Commissioner Donnelly have openly expressed themselves in favor of the project and it is expected that there will be little opposition from the other members of the council.

Another project which Mayor Thompson would like to see started this month and for which a loan would probably be introduced in a week or so is the improving of the Merrimack river bank in Pawtucketville. Although residents of that section have asked the council for $50,000, the mayor thinks that the project can be gotten under way if a $15,000 or $20,000 loan is made and the money transferred to the park department. If that is exhausted this summer, there may be a possibility of getting more later. His Honor says that there is no doubt but what it will take $50,000 to carry the project through properly, but he believes the money can be voted in installments.

POLISH FORCES
OCCUPY KIEV

Extra Editions of Warsaw
Papers Say Gen. Pilsudski
Has Taken City

Early Reports Announced
Heavy Fighting in Vicinity of City

WARSAW, May 3.—Polish forces occupied Kiev Sunday, according to extra editions of the newspapers here today.

General Pilsudski, president of the Polish state, led the troops into the city, the newspapers say.

Heavy Fighting

LONDON, May 3.—Violent fighting in the vicinity of Kiev is reported in an official statement issued by the soviet government at Moscow Sunday and received here today. The Bolsheviks claim some successes for their arms in the Black sea region. The statement says:

"In the Kiev region, our troops are heavily engaged west of the river Dnieper and at Fastoff (30 miles southwest of Kiev). Our flotilla on the river Pripiat has captured an enemy steamer."

"In the Podolsk region, there is no change. In the Rezhitsa district (government of Vitebsk), north of Rezhovskaya station, the enemy drove back our troops, but our former position was restored by a counter-attack. On the Black sea coast our troops captured Stochy after severe fighting and the enemy is retreating in disorder on Adler. We captured two armored trains and large military booty."

Polish Sweep On
WARSAW, May 2. (By Associated Press)—Bolshevik forces have backed up against the Dnieper river and are preparing to resist the Polish and Ukrainian efforts to take Kiev, towards which General Pilsudski's men are fighting their way from three directions.

Polish cavalry which reached the region of Kiev on Saturday, has halted, according to latest reports, awaiting the coming up of infantry support.

Stubborn fighting is going on in the open country along the Telow river in the vicinity of Malin.

Chinese mercenaries are being used by the Bolsheviks to stem the eastern sweep of Polish and Ukrainian forces, said Saturday's official communique. A number of Chinese have been captured, it was announced. Material taken by the Poles includes 10 locomotives, three armored trains, several tanks and one entire air squadron.

Winnica and Zhmerinka, approximately 50 miles southwest of Kiev, have been retaken by the Poles and Ukrainians after three days' fighting. The Reds have been pushed across the Bug river.

TO DECIDE FATE OF EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

The fate of the local employment bureau in Dutton street, through which thousands of people have secured work since its opening in Merrimack street in the summer of 1918, will be decided this evening at a meeting of the new board of directors of Lowell Community Service, Inc.

The office was originally opened by the United States employment service at 119 Merrimack street to provide labor for firms doing government work. Its activities gradually expanded until it embraced all kinds of help and when the government gave it up the Community Service people agreed to finance it. However, with the resignation of Otto Hockmeyer as president and the old board of directors, the matter of financing the employment bureau is now up to the new board of directors to decide. The decision will be reached this evening. Should the directors decide not to finance the office, it is possible that Cornelius F. Cronin, now in charge of the bureau, will conduct it as a private enterprise.

Special Train With Doctors

Scene of Disaster

MUSKOGEE, Okla., May 3.—Fifty persons are reported killed and more than 150 injured in a storm that is said to have destroyed the little town of Peggs, Okla., Cherokee county, last night.

Reports to the Times-Democrat from Locust Grove and Tahlequah where dead and injured from Peggs are being taken, said that not a house was left standing in Peggs.

A special train carrying doctors and nurses has been sent to Peggs from here. All doctors and nurses in Tahlequah also have gone. Practically every store in Tahlequah, the county seat, has closed and several hundred people have gone to Peggs to do rescue work.

Direct communication with the stricken town is impossible as all wires from Muskogee to Peggs are down.

44 Bodies Recovered
At noon today, 44 bodies had been extricated from the debris resulting from last night's storm at Peggs, Okla.

CREW TAKEN OFF
VESSEL LANDED

NEW BEDFORD, May 3.—Capt. Carl Danielson and the crew of the motor schooner Risor who were taken off their blazing vessel 2½ miles east of New York by the British freighter City of Canton, yesterday, were landed here today by the coast guard cutter Acushnet. The Acushnet had transferred the men of the crew and Mrs. I. Syvertsen, wife of the Steward, off Gay Head, early this morning.

STEAMER CRASHES

BOSTON, May 3.—The steamer Turret Crown from Newport, Eng., for Hampton Roads, reported a collision with an iceberg today. In a message relayed here the freighter said she had a hole in her bow eight feet in length but that she would proceed to New York without assistance.

The Turret Crown reported that she had seen many icebergs southeast of Cape Race.

COME SPRING!

"Winter Lingering Chills the Lap of May"

When elusive spring comes north this year, she will find that her place in the cycle of seasons has been taken jointly by winter and summer, or, in other words it will be like the end of a western day—sunshine and then darkness, with no twilight between.

It is the unanimous opinion of harassed New Englanders that yesterday was absolutely unnecessary and that the weather man cannot justify himself for his outlandish actions. Who ever heard of two hail storms in the same afternoon in May? May! the month we love to anticipate as the fore-runner of summer, the month of blossoms, forming leaves and budding flowers.

Greater Boston had a thunder storm along with the hail. Lowell got the hail, but not the electricity. Hail stones as big as peas clattered down over the city about 1:30 o'clock and within three minutes the ground showed white. The hail turned into snow on roof drains and splashed off in miniature slides just to add to the reality of the thing. Later in the afternoon it hailed some more. It also rained. It rained while the sky was slate colored and while the sun shone brightly. All in all it was a most peculiar day and a disheartening one.

And through it all the weather strip on Uncle Dudley's clock in Merrimack square read "Sunday—Fair and Warm." Today it reads, "Tuesday—Showers." How this parched old world does need a little rain!

GUN EXPERT AT MURDER TRIAL

Hartford Man Testifies for Defense at Trial of Mrs.
Marion Otterson

Declares Alleged Murder Gun
Had Been Thoroughly
Cleaned

CONCORD, N. H., May 3.—James F. Fitzgerald, of Hartford, Conn., witness for the defense, was first to take the stand this morning in the trial of Mrs. Marion Loyne Otterson for the murder of her brother-in-law, Maurice Otterson. Mr. Fitzgerald is a firearms expert and he had examined the alleged murder gun found in the sleeping room of Mrs. Marion Otterson at the family home in Hooksett. He testified that the revolver had been cleaned.

He testified, too, that the cleaning was more thorough than could have resulted from a mere passing of a cloth through the barrel after firing. Carroll Dewey, a Hooksett youth, who with Mrs. Ernestine L. Stewart, was called to the Otterson home immediately after the murder, testified that he heard Marion Otterson scream. Arthur J. Guillette of Manchester passed through Concord on Nov. 6, 1919, the night of the murder, just before 8 o'clock and near the Otterson home in Hooksett he saw a large touring car beside the road. One man was standing near it. On cross-examination, Attorney General Young showed that Guillette could hardly have passed the Otterson home before 8:15 on the night of the murder.

E. C. Voce, meteorologist of the weather bureau station at Concord, testified that there was rain in the evening of Nov. 6, turning to snow, and further testimony was presented as to the unreliability of the north dial of the town clock on Main street, Concord, in such weather conditions. It was by this north dial that Mr. Guillette fixed the time of his passage through Concord. The hands on this dial were set back 15 minutes on Nov. 8 by Mervin E. Banks, a watch and clock expert of Concord.

Charles A. Silver, who has a gasoline station at Boscawon, seven miles north of Concord, testified that about 8:20 o'clock on the evening of Nov. 6, two men in a touring car, who appeared to be in a hurry purchased ten gallons of gasoline from him. On cross examination, he could not remember telling Sheriff George A. Webster that the motorists had the appearance of hunters but admitted he might have made such a statement. He said he had told the sheriff nothing that was not so, and added: "And I am not telling you anything that isn't so, either."

PERSHING FORCED BACK

Caught in Protest Parade at Panama—Object to U. S.
Taking Taboga Island

PANAMA, May 2.—Several thousand Panamanians tonight marched through the streets in a torchlight parade as a protest against the acquisition by the United States of the major part of Taboga Island for the purpose of fortification as a part of the Pacific defense scheme of the American canal. An automobile in which General John J. Pershing was driving to a ball in his honor at the Union club, was halted by the procession and forced to return to the Tivoli hotel.

Mobs later formed in the streets and irresponsible persons threw rocks at prominent Panama officials, a number of whom were injured. Mounted policemen, acting on orders of Mayor Boyd, charged and dispersed the demonstrators.

Major General Kennedy, commander of the American troops in the Canal Zone following receipt of reports of the rock throwing, ordered all American officers attending the ball to leave immediately. Earlier in the evening General Pershing attended a reception at the Balboa administration building, where thousands of American employees shook hands with him. Tomorrow the general will inspect the Atlantic canal defense.

ASK FOR WAGE INCREASE

United Textile Workers Seek
Increase of 17½ Per Cent,
Effective May 31

The cotton mill operatives of this and other New England cities have filed their demand with the National Cotton Manufacturers' association for an increase in wages of 17½ per cent, to become effective Monday, May 31. The demand was mailed Saturday from the national headquarters of the United Textile Workers of America in New York and was sent to the president of the Cotton Manufacturers' association, Mr. Shove in Fall River.

This action was a result of a meeting of the executive council of the international body of the United Textile Workers of America, which was held in New York Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week. It was predicted in The Sun last week that within a very short time the textile operatives of this city and elsewhere, connected with the United Textile Workers of America would file their demand for an increase in wages of between 15 and 25 per cent, but local union officials flatly denied the report at that time. The executive council of the U.T.W. of A. met in New York, however, and at the close of the meeting a letter containing a demand for a 17½ per cent, increase in wages was mailed to President Shove of the National Cotton Manufacturers' association, and this communication is now in the hands of mill officials.

NEW YORK, May 3.—An indictment charging Charles W. Morse with violating the shipping board act, which prohibits sale of American registered vessels to foreigners, was returned by the federal grand jury here today. With Morse were indicted Captain W. S. Mitchell, the United States Steamship Co., and the J. G. McCullough Co. Judge A. N. Hand issued bench warrants upon request of Assistant Federal District Attorney Jerome Simmons, who has been conducting an investigation lasting four months. The indictments charge that in August, 1917, the steamship John G. McCullough was sold for $500,000 to the government of Tunis, a French protectorate.

U. S. Destroyers Rush to Vera

Take Americans Aboard.

Eben Greenlaw and His Son,
Americans, Murdered by Mexican Bandits

WASHINGTON, May 3.—American destroyers have been ordered to Vera Cruz and Tampico to protect Americans there.

The navy department acted on the request of the state department where it was explained today that warships would take aboard Americans in those two ports in event that should become necessary.

It was said that the vessels would not intervene in Mexican affairs and that their despatch was a precautionary measure. Only the cruiser Sacramento is now on the east coast of Mexico. She was last reported at Tampico.

No reports of any disturbances in either Vera Cruz or Tampico, have been received by the state department, but revolutionary outbreaks have occurred near both ports.

Advices to the government today said the line between Mexico City and Vera Cruz had been cut but they do not indicate the extent of damage. This line runs through the northern part of the state of Tlaxcala, the governor and military commander of which were reported last week to have joined the Sonora revolution.

Two Americans Killed

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Two American citizens, Eben Francis Greenlaw and his minor son, were killed by Mexican bandits yesterday, the state department was informed today by the American embassy in Mexico City.

The killings occurred at Palamela, about 125 miles from Mexico City. Greenlaw was employed by a British lumber firm.

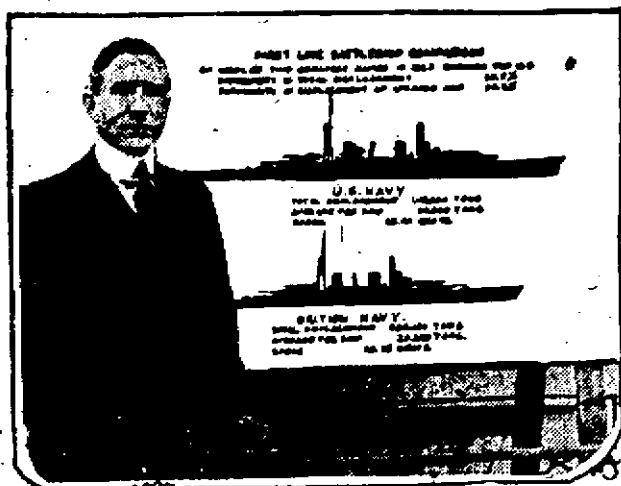

The state department announced that it has requested the Mexican government to take "effective measures" for punishment of the assassins.

U. S. NAVY TO LEAD IN 1923, HE SAYS

WASHINGTON—When it comes to America's future naval power, Representative P. A. Britten of Illinois is a real optimist. He sees United States ranking first in 1923. Britten quotes positive figures to show that within three years the American navy will be 26 1/2 per cent superior to the British navy; and capable of defeating the combined navies of any three powers, not including Great Britain.

SUICIDE MAY BE LOWELL WOMAN

According to the Salem police, the woman who committed suicide by shooting Saturday afternoon in the Essex hotel in that city may be a resident of this city. Captain Atkinson of the local station received word last night about the case.

When registering at the hotel Saturday the woman gave her name as C. E. Mandell of West street, Greenfield. However, just before dying she said her real name was Gillon. Her height was 5 feet 8 inches, her weight 150 pounds and her age about 40 years. Her complexion was light and she had gray eyes. She wore gray silk stockings, a black straw hat and a coat marked with the store name, Cherry & Webb.

LETTER CARRIERS PASS UP OVERALLS

The regular meeting of the letter carriers was held in Odd Fellows hall last night. President Hunt as chairman presided over the election of delegates to the state convention to be held Sunday, May 30, in Hotel Kimball, Springfield. President Hunt and Patrick J. Owens were elected, with David H. Dwyer and Timothy J. Finnegan as alternates. Mr. Owens is the first substitute letter carrier to be elected as a delegate in 12 years.

The committee on the recent minstrel show and dance reported favorably on results and proceeds. The election of officers was made for the sick relief association. Letters will be sent to Congressman Rogers and Senators Lodge and Walsh, requesting them to urge the wage commission, now in session, to hasten their report in relation to the pay of postal employees.

In discussing the overall question, it was decided that since the material is so costly now it would be inadvisable for the letter carriers to wear overalls.

COMMENDATION FROM FEDERAL AUTHORITIES

Commendation from federal officials interested in the campaign to reduce the cost of living has been received by Humphrey O'Sullivan, supervising head of the Merrimack Clothing Co., for the action of that concern in inaugurating a "clothes at cost, plus store expenses" campaign. Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer recently appealed to wholesalers and retailers to assist in solving the high living cost problem and as soon as the Merrimack Clothing Co. received the appeal Manager P. J. Mahoney was instructed to comply with the request. As a result, the Merrimack Clothing Co. was the first large concern dealing in men's, boys' and women's clothing to start such a campaign. It opened last Friday and will continue all this week.

Feeling fine and hearty after taking RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women.

MRS. J. MERCIER

I tried RED PILLS as I was in such a weakened condition that I was unable to keep up any longer. My working companions really pitied me and were constantly advising me to try RED PILLS. I did so, and they strengthened my constitution. I took them for quite a long while, with the satisfying result that my good health returned. I am now married and feeling fine and hearty; I have five healthy children and am able to do all my own work alone and without any difficulty, and so am quite happy. If ever I become sick again, it will be RED PILLS which I will be sure to take.

Friends of Irish Freedom Open Campaign Here

The local branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom opened a campaign for more members last evening at a well attended meeting in Hibernian hall. James O'Sullivan outlined the needs of a larger membership and greater activity in Lowell and told of a recent meeting of the national council of the Friends of Irish Freedom.

Other speakers who urged a larger membership were Stephen Flynn, chairman of the recent bond drive in Lowell, and Michael J. Sharkey. John W. Daly, former K. of C. overseas secretary, told of his visit to Ireland and described in detail the conditions existing there at that time. Activities of the British government in that country were described and in conclusion, the speaker expressed hope for the independence of Ireland in the near future.

SMILE AWHILE

BY LEE HINGSTON

Very certainly I'm willing to admit the movie's thrill, though I sometimes wish the killing pistol really packed a pill, for I'd dance if certain actors who infest this mortal scene might cease longer to be factors of my evenings at the screen. Oh, the flicker panorama cannot give me half the joys of the old-time melodrama that we saw when we were boys, when the hero, tall and manly, and the lovely hero-line, with her shawl and smiling wanly, foiled the villain's foul design. On the screen's a lot of kissing, the eternal final clutch, but Claude Montmorency's missing, and the London lights and such; Charlie cuts his funny capers and I've often sat and smiled, but to hear, "Give me those papers!" "Oh, my God, where is the child?" Though the handsome hero woos her on the sheet as on the stage, and the villain still pursues her with much modern camouflage, yet we never hear the yelling of the boys 'way up on high, as when Dalton was a-feeeling' of the dastard, lip and thigh; nor again we'll know, I'm certain, what the villain used to get as he walked before the curtain, puffing on his cigaret. Call the pictures more artistic than the sort of stuff I crave, say that being atavistic is the reason why I rave, yet or ere the preacher stammer by my unreplying dust, give me one old-fashioned dramatist, let me see it or I'll bust!

Woman Broker Says There's Very Little That Woman Cannot Do

MRS. MARY RIIS.

NEW YORK, April 28.—"As time goes on it will be increasingly the spirit, not the pretty face, that attracts and holds men," Mrs. Mary Riis, widow of Jacob Riis, who died as he had lived, the "ideal American citizen," was at her desk in the bond office of Bonbright & Co., where she is the head of the woman's department. She had been kinds of work. But even this may be overcome, in time, Mrs. Riis thinks, by healthy living and exercise.

She herself is a slight figure of a woman, at once nervous and firmly poised, dominated by large dark eyes, bright with vital energy.

Men Choose Pretty Faces

"Sooner or later physical beauty will not be the only quality by which a woman is judged," she repeated. "At present men think first of looks. They think that is what they want, because they have never been trained to love the spiritual and gentle and simple—just as a materialistic young girl's ideal is at present a football hero."

"For myself, I pick my workers by their faces, too—but by the spiritual quality that must inevitably shine through. The woman who thinks more of her clothes and her general appearance than she does of the life of the soul, who would spend an hour powdering her nose, and only 10 minutes on a business problem, is the woman who would be sent politely from my door."

Something For Everyone

A woman is limited only as a man is limited, according to Mrs. Riis. Some are good at financial work, some at painting pictures, some at keeping tea shops—it just depends upon the particular woman.

The problem of a woman left destitute in middle age, perhaps with children to care for, was put up to Mrs. Riis.

"Let her look about her. There's something in the world for everyone," was her reply. "The ways of making a living are simply astounding. I know one woman who has made a great success of painting beads; another who dyes feathers; still another who found her salvation in her own imagination. She makes up fairy stories and tells them to school children; she goes to the best houses as an entertainer. There are as many ways of earning a living as there are people."

All Need Discipline

In speaking of the untrained woman, Mrs. Riis emphasized her belief in discipline. She believes there is always a way for anyone with real ambition, whether trained or untrained, but that every woman will be better for training of some sort.

"I believe in discipline," she said. "There's no sense in the theory that discipline hurts natural talents. And not only is it nonsense in the business world, but in the home it is invariably the disciplined woman who makes the best mother."

Same Balance Coming

That women's heads are turned with any degree of permanency by their entrance into activities hitherto considered fit only for men, Mr. Riis does not admit.

"You see, business and the successful carrying on of its work is so new to woman," she explained, "that she has become a little inflated by her new activities, but that will wear off with the passing of the years."

"The world is just beginning to get its balance, and when it finally does—well—I believe we shall have a better world for men as well as for women."

HURT ADMITS KILLING ANOTHER "WIFE"

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 3.—In a second alleged confession, which officers were checking today, Walter Andrew Watson, alias James B. Hurt, admitted killing a woman he had married but whose name he could not remember, according to Thomas Lee Woolwine, district attorney, who said the confession was made to him yesterday. This made five women the man was declared to have admitted slaying.

The district attorney said Watson told him he had married the woman in Tacoma, Wash., and that he choked her and pushed her overboard while they were boating on Lake Washington, near Seattle. He was quoted as saying he then rowed ashore leaving the woman's body in the water.

"Naturally, I told no one about it," the district attorney quoted him.

Woolwine said his investigation showed that Watson married Mrs. Beatrice Andrews, a Canadian, in Tacoma, on Feb. 3, 1919, and that she was said to be missing. He said he had advised Washington authorities of Watson's statement.

HEALTH MENACE

Homeless Dogs Becoming Wild in New York

NEW YORK, May 3.—Informal dispossession notices served on dogs by owners who have been compelled to move into more restricted quarters because of the housing shortage and high rents have resulted in a serious health menace in Brooklyn and Queens boroughs, the health department announced in a rabies warning issued today.

Chief Veterinarian Silkman said hundreds of dogs had been deserted by their owners and were running at large in the boroughs in imminent danger of becoming mad through hunger and other causes. Large numbers of stray dogs that have reverted to a virtually wild state, frequent the dumps in the two boroughs, he said.

Completion of New Addition Puts St. John's Hospital in Front Ranks

After being in process of construction for more than two years in a war period when all building activities were handicapped by the shortage of labor and materials, the new addition to St. John's hospital in Bartlett street will throw open its doors on Wednesday, May 12, and an invitation will be extended to the general public to inspect on that date one of the most modern and best equipped hospital plants in New England, if not in the entire United States.

From roof to basement the building is finished with the triple design of simplicity, utility and architectural beauty. An inspection of the four floors and basement of the structure discloses not a single unnecessary fixture or adornment; everything is designed for a useful purpose and yet forms a part of an artistically constructed building.

The addition is of practically the same size as the old St. John's hospital building with which it is connected by tunnels at every floor. The result is that the floor space of the institution has been just doubled in size and the congestion, irritating in both patients and administering force, which has been in evidence at the hospital in recent years, due to the natural growth of the city, will happily be relieved.

On May 12 the entire working personnel of the hospital will be removed to the new building and workmen will begin at once their renovation of the old structure.

The completion of the addition marks an important milestone in one of the most beneficent institutions that the city has. Organized on May 1, 1861, by Sister Emerentiana of the Sisters of Charity at the suggestion of the bishop of the diocese, St. John's hospital has continued since that day to serve the ill and suffering of every creed and class, and today, the 53d anniversary of its birth, it looks back on a career of service and usefulness in the community rarely equaled by any institution.

General Description of Addition

Like the original building, the new addition faces on Bartlett street and extends in the rear to Stackpole street, looking down upon the waters of the Merrimack. It is four stories in height, has a flat roof and in general detail follows the lines of the old building. It is finished in red brick with reinforced concrete and steel centering into various parts of its construction.

The old elevator at the southerly end of the old building has been replaced by an automatic electric elevator, propelled by the touch of a button, and enclosed in a fireproof wall. By its happy location, the new elevator serves equally well the needs of the new and old parts of the hospital, being midway between them.

A wide corridor runs the full length of the building on every floor and leading from this on either side are the various rooms for which each floor has been designed. Hardwood floors, oak paneling and tiled walls form the general finish of the building's interior.

NASHUA, N. The men pleaded not guilty and were held in bonds of $300 each.

Iron stairways, in addition to the elevator service, connect each floor. The roof will be fitted out as a roof garden for patients and will give them the advantages of an altitude in which the air is clear, the pleasure of a view of the entire city and absolute quiet. Inasmuch as the elevator service extends only to the fourth floor, only those patients able to walk will be brought to the roof.

However, no matter what floor he is on, the patient will not lack fresh air and an attractive outlook for leading from each floor is a spacious piazza and sun porch, ideal for those in advanced stages of recuperation.

Description of Basement

The basement of the new building is connected with that of the old, which has already been renovated, by a tunnel. On this floor will be located the out-patient department, a pharmacy, fitted out with a completeness suggestive of a long established drug store; a morgue, a dental clinic, surgical rooms, a gynecological room for the treatment of women's ills and an orthopedic clinic. The latter will be the first clinic of its kind to be established in Lowell and arrangements are being made with a Boston specialist to open it to the general public early in June.

The First Floor

On the first floor one side of the building, that facing on Bartlett street, is given over to double and private rooms for men patients.

On the other side is a general ward for men, with room for 12 beds and extending down the corridor are the nurses' utensil room, the sterilizing room and a room for preparing treatments as well as a linen closet and diet kitchen which are features of every floor.

The linen closets have been designed to furnish plenty of room for the storage of linen, one of the chief requisites of a hospital, while the diet kitchens are models of their kind. A gas stove, steam heating stove for keeping food warm and a tray cabinet with room for the individual tray of each patient on that floor are a few of its features. A dumb waiter, electrically propelled, leads from each kitchen. The main entrance and reception rooms are also on this floor.

The Second Floor

On the second floor is the children's general ward with six cribs and four beds in each section, one for boys and another for girls. Glass partitions separate the two and leading directly from the wards is the inevitable piazza with its inviting opportunities to look off along the river's course.

Private rooms, kitchen, toilets, bath-rooms, linen room and nurses' room—features of every floor, are to be found ranging on either side of the corridor on the second floor.

The Third Floor

The third floor is given over to women patients. A large ward on the southern end, similar to that for men on the first floor, is on one side of the corridor and along the opposite range private rooms for women.

This ward also contains 12 beds and leads directly onto the piazza and sun porch. The rest of the floor has the usual assortment of nurses' rooms, kitchen facilities, doctors' rooms, etc.

The Fourth Floor

The fourth floor, perhaps the most important and interesting of the entire building in view of the work to be done there, will be given over to operating rooms and laboratories. There are three general operating rooms on this floor, located at the northern end of the building because northern light is considered best for operating purposes.

The operating equipment is a revelation in the delicacy and almost human devices it embraces. The operating tables were built by the Kuy-Scheerer Co. of New York and have the very latest devices for lifting and lowering a patient, turning the table at any angle and making it as flexible in the hands of the operator as a piece of reed.

Near the operating rooms is a doctors' scrub room where doctors may bathe their arms and hands without having to touch a single fixture by hand. Appliances that can be operated by knee and elbow turn on the water and in this way all danger of contagion is avoided.

Each operating room has gray Tennessee marble, wainscoting extending six feet from the floor. Near the opposite end of this floor is the X-ray room with its intensely powerful appliances.

So strong are the rays used in this work that the room is lead-lined to prevent them from penetrating the floors and walls. The operator will conduct his examination from an adjacent room and will see the patient only through a small slide in the wall. A special table, ideally equipped for X-ray work, has been installed. On the opposite side of the corridor is an office and record room for the X-ray operator and also a waiting room for X-ray patients.

At the southern end of the building are two laboratories, one donated by Walter Bagshaw in memory of his wife, Margaret Josephine Bagshaw, and the other, the pathological laboratory, to be equipped by members of the local council of the Knights of Columbus. A sum of $2000 is to be raised for the purpose.

That, in brief, completes the description of the building. Adjacent to it is a boiler plant, located in what was formerly the laundry of the old building. From this plant will permeate heat through tunnels to every part of the old and new sections of the hospital as well as to the nurses' home, an entirely separate building.

Radiators, so equipped that steam can be turned on or off merely by the turning of a lever, causing no bending over, will provide heat on every floor. No arranged is the heating system that half a pound of steam will send heat into every part of the plant.

The ventilating system is most modern in detail, each room having direct fresh air ventilation.

Fire equipment is available on every floor, despite the fact that the building is practically fireproof and an electrical fire alarm system is an added precaution against any possible danger.

The Men Who Built It

So much for the building itself. Now let us consider the men who constructed, under the handicaps previously mentioned, this monument to the relief of human suffering.

The general contractor in charge of the work was Daniel H. Walker, now engaged in an even larger task, that of erecting the city's new high school. In commenting on the hospital, Mr. Walker said yesterday that the shortage of labor and materials due to war conditions was the greatest handicap connected with the erection of the addition and that time and time again delay was experienced on the work owing to these conditions. However, the job has finally been completed and stands today a monument to Mr. Walker's workmanship and general supervision.

The electrical work in the new building was done entirely by the L. A. Dorby company and a most complete and up-to-date system of plumbing has been installed. In addition to a most efficient lighting system in all parts of the structure, this company also installed what is known as the nurses' silent signal. It is a device whereby a patient can signal a nurse by pulling a cord at his or her bedside. This at once lights a red light in the nurses' room, another light in front of the patient's door and another in a third room. Thus, no matter where the nurse may be, she will learn that a patient wants her. The light cannot be put out except by the nurse actually going to the patient's room. Not a single sound is caused by this method of signalling, in pleasant contrast with the jangling of bells known in the old days. An electric fire alarm system whereby the breaking of a small pane of glass on any floor automatically gives an alarm of fire to the proper authorities in the building is another feature of the Dorby company's work.

The plumbing work was done by Farrell & Condon, a firm that has many other large jobs of this nature to its credit. A thoroughly modern and up-to-date system of plumbing is noted in closets, bath rooms and shower bath arrangements. Carroll Bros. did the steam heating work.

The painting of the entire building was the artistic handiwork of Dwyer & Co. Tinted walls, beautiful in their simplicity, and oak finished woodwork, in harmonious contrast with the lighter shaded walls, indicate the hand of the artist.

J. L. Douglas constructed the roof of the new building, of concrete foundation and tar finish and this is another example of the thoroughly excellent workmanship of this firm.

John J. O'Connor was the designer of the various examples of the carpenter's art which form an important part in the structure and equipment of the building. Doors, closets, diet kitchens, linen closets and other equipment represent earnest and artistic labor on the part of this sub-contractor.

The H. E. Fletcher company of West Chelmsford furnished granite for the building and added much to its already firmly established reputation in this line of work.

Charles W. Holmes did interior wood work connected with the building and Arthur P. Knapp did the structural iron work, a most important part of the building. An iron fence surrounding the addition is also an artistic example of Mr. Knapp's skill.

And especially upon the zealous superintendent, T. Sullivan furnished the cement and brick connected with the building and E. A. Wilson the plaster blocks.

Considering both construction and equipment, the cost of the building ranges in the vicinity of $500,000. It is planned to remodel the old building at once so that when it is completed St. John's hospital will rank as one of the best equipped and largest in the country. But were it not to expand another inch, the work already accomplished within its walls to relieve human suffering would reflect sufficient glory on the good Sisters of Charity and especially upon the zealous superintendent of St. John's, Sister Mary Clare, to last for centuries.

United States treasury experts have submitted estimates, showing that 60,000 men made more than $3,000,000,000 besides their normal income during the war.

METHODIST CHURCH IS FACING CRISIS

DES MOINES, Ia., May 3.—Heralding the Methodist Episcopal quadrennial general conference meeting here as the most important in the history of the denomination, the address of the 24 bishops of the church, submitted to the conference yesterday, declares the church is on trial. On behalf of their denomination the bishops accept the challenge and aver that the church must determine to deal courageously with the vital questions the new age has presented.

"Never before did a general conference meet at a time like this," they said in their address. "We cannot go back to the less troubled, more simple, placid days."

"We are at a crisis in the ages. If we fail here it will not matter what else we do."

The address is devoted to answering the question: "What is our chief business at the present conference?"

It divides the question into 11 subdivisions.

"The church as a whole and in its parts has been and is under heavy fire," the address says. "It has been charged with failure to prevent war. It is charged with impotence in the current unrest and disorder. It is declared to be out of touch with modern industry, modern thought and dominant modern life. It is charged with being the champion of the obsolete, with failure to interpret Christ to personal and social life with power and fullness, with the failure to make the world's ideals or to supply the world's motives."

"There is a wholesome desire for co-operation but a reaction against ecclesiasticism. Both in Protestantism and Romanism and outside of both there is a vague widespread idea of a Christianity without a church."

In its bill of particulars, the address says:

"Of course the church will stand in unflinching, uncompromising denunciation of all violations of law; against all murderous child labor; all foul sweat shops, all unsafe mines, all deadly tenements, all starvation wages, all excessive hours for those who toil, all profligate luxuries, all standard of wage and life below the living standard, all unfairness and harshness of conditions, all brutal exactions, whether of the employer or union, all over-lordships whether of capital or labor, all godless profiteering, whether in food, clothing, profits or wages; against all inhumanity, injustice and blighting inequality; against all class minded men who demand special privileges or exceptions on behalf of their class."

"Surely," the address says in its reference to world peace, "we must take strong grounds against any more wars, and against war itself as a method of settling differences. Surely, we must commit our church to the principle that international troubles shall be adjusted by council and arbitration, not by guns and slaughter of men; that the nations of the world be bound together by a working covenant of peace; that however, it shall be brought about, such compromise should be made between the president of the United States, as shall secure a real and effective League of Nations in which the United States shall have a proper and honorable place among the nations of the world in preserving the peace and bearing the burdens of the world; that narrow nationalism shall not set itself against world unity and a true internationalism; that we shall unite with the churches of all countries that are even now seeking to promote international friendship and good will; that weak nations shall not be the prey and victims of the stronger ones; and that all nations shall reduce armaments and armies, battleships and navies to a minimum consistent with safety and that the vast expenditures for fighting purposes shall be used for educational, industrial and domestic welfare instead."

"Paraders Demand Release of Bela Kun"

VIENNA, May 1.—May Day passed without disorder. The feature of the day was a great parade with red banners inscribed: "Release Bela Kun!" and "Long live soviet Russia!" In addition there were inscribed the usual socialist slogans.

ON TRIAL FOR MURDER OF HER STEP-FATHER

ST. LOUIS, May 3.—The third trial of 16-year-old Ursula Broderick, charged with the murder of her stepfather, Joseph E. Woodlock, began here today. A continuance was granted the first time her case was called for trial and at the second trial, the jury disagreed.

In 1918 Miss Broderick shot and killed her father, T. P. Broderick, and a coroner's jury exonerated her when she testified she shot in defense of her mother. The state contended at the second trial for the alleged murder of Woodlock that he was killed as he lay asleep. Miss Broderick testified she killed him when he attacked her. Mrs. Woodlock is charged with plotting her husband's death and will be tried after her daughter.

COMING IN WITH CREW OF ABANDONED CRAFT

BOSTON, May 3.—The crew of the motor schooner Risorer, who were forced to abandon their blazing vessel 250 miles east of New York yesterday, were transferred early today from the British steamer City of Canton to the coast guard cutter Aushnet.

The cutter, reporting by wireless when off Gay Head on Martha's Vineyard island, said she would take the 19 men of the Risorer to New Bedford.

The City of Canton continued her voyage from New York for London. The Risorer was bound from Norfolk for Denmark.

No Cardinals to be Created

ROME, May 2.—Confirmation of reports that no cardinals will be created at the coming consistory, has been received from an official source at the vatican. The consistory will concern itself entirely with the work of the canonization of Joan of Arc, and Marie Alacoque, a French mystic and nun, who died in 1890. Another consistory may possibly be held in June, but it is possible it will be postponed until the end of the year, when the question of the creation of new American cardinals will be considered. Creation of cardinals is a personal prerogative of the pontiff, and, therefore, any reports as to who may be given the red hat, are considered pure conjecture.

CROWLEY STREET

Capt. W. A. Dolan, city fireman, 56 Crowley street, says: "I have never found anything as good as Doan's Kidney Pills. I have taken them off and on for several years. I have suffered with my kidneys mostly when I have caught cold which has settled in my back. There has usually been a constant aching there and my back has been very stiff and sore. I have bought Doan's Kidney Pills at McEvoy's Drug Store and they have given me relief."

THE STRENGTHENERS CONFIDENCE

Nearly three years later, Capt. Dolan added: "I have as much confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills now as when I endorsed them before. I know they are reliable."

FERNALD STREET

Oliver J. St. Pierre, 12 Fernald street, says: "My kidneys were weak for a long time and every time I over-lifted, I had attacks of backache and sharp catches in the small of my back. My kidneys acted too frequently and annoyed me day and night. I tried different remedies, but didn't get any better. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they were what I needed. For it wasn't long before my back was well and strong and my kidneys were in a good, healthy condition."

LINCOLN STREET

Mrs. Mary Zewitz, 105 Lincoln street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are not a new remedy to me for I have used them off and on for several years and know they will do what is claimed for them. I had attacks of kidney trouble and my back ached and pained me in a throbbing way. I felt worn out and miserable and my kidneys annoyed me by their irregular action. Doan's Kidney Pills promptly relieved the trouble. The aching left my back and my kidneys were soon in good condition. When I had any return of the trouble, Doan's Kidney Pills have always given good relief."

No Package of Doan's Kidney Pills is genuine unless it bears the maple-leaf trade-mark and the signature—'Jas. Doan.'"

BROADWAY

Mrs. W. J. Kingsley, 16 Broadway, gave the following statement July 24, 1918: "I was a great sufferer from backache and distressing pain across my kidneys. It was a dull ache that kept me in misery. My head ached, I had spells of dizziness and I had no strength or energy. My kidneys acted irregularly. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and used two boxes. I am entirely free from backaches and the headaches and dizzy spells have also left me. My kidneys have become regular in action."

On February 17, 1919, Mrs. Kingsley said: "The cure Doan's Kidney Pills made for me has been a lasting one, as I have had no return of the trouble."

HASTINGS STREET

George A. Dickey, city fireman, 11 Hastings street, says: "I had severe pains in my back and was so sore and stiff I could hardly bend over. When I caught cold, the trouble was always worse, the kidney secretions were too free in passage and annoyed me greatly. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they regulated the action of my kidneys and my back became strong and well."—(Statement given May 4, 1917.)

On February 17, 1918, Mr. Dickey said: "Doan's Kidney Pills put my kidneys in a good, healthy condition. I have had no return of the trouble and I always recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

WOMEN OPEN DRIVE IN CONNECTICUT.

NEW YORK, May 1.—A woman suffrage "Flying Squadron" departed today for Connecticut, where, during the next four days, suffragist orators will wage a campaign in an effort to put the state "over the top" for the final vote needed for ratification of the suffrage amendment.

After a series of meetings in various cities of the state, the delegation plans to call upon Governor Marcus H. Holcomb on Friday and again urge him to call the legislature into special session to consider the amendment. The governor has repeatedly declined to call such a session, claiming that as he interpreted the state constitution, no "emergency" existed. Proponents of the suffrage cause claim they have information showing that a majority of the members of the legislature are in favor of the amendment. "Our whole idea," said Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National Woman Suffrage association, "is not to drive Gov. Holcomb to call an extra session, but to persuade him to do so."

GRANITEVILLE MAN MISSING FROM HOME

GRANITEVILLE, May 1.—Leroy Cummings, a life-long resident of Graniteville and aged about 60 years, disappeared from his boarding place here Saturday afternoon and despite the efforts of a searching party, under C. W. Robinson of Westford, which made a thorough search of this vicinity yesterday, no trace of him was found.

Cummings was last seen Saturday between 3 and 4 o'clock, so far as is known, but when he did not appear at his boarding house at supper or later in the evening, the authorities were notified and yesterday the searching party took up the work. Other sources of information were also consulted as it was thought Cummings might have gone visiting as he is accustomed to do. These, however, failed to yield information.

When last seen he was wearing a cap and dark clothing. He was about 5 feet, 8 or 9 inches tall and weighed between 150 and 160 pounds. His hair was slightly grayed.

The gross sales in 1919 of the United Steel corporation, for rolled and other finished products, amounted to 12,243,133 tons.

THE INTERCHURCH WORLD MOVEMENT

The interchurch world movement has been marked by progress in Lowell and, while only one church, the Chelmsford Street Baptist, has raised its quota, several others are in the midst of active campaigns which are assured of a successful outcome. It was announced yesterday that the Chelmsford street church has raised $6800, or about $200 over its quota. The First Baptist, still a short distance away from its quota, announces pledges totalling $32,628, which is by far the largest sum raised among any of the co-operating churches. When the First Baptist total reaches $100,000 an additional pledge of $15,000 will be forthcoming from one of the members. William T. Sheppard is director of the campaign. The Calvary Baptist has raised $7500 of its $23,000 quota and the work there will be continued this week. The Fifth Street Baptist church will launch its drive for $10,000 the middle of the week.

ANTI-FAT

Art thou stout and getting stouter? Stop repining—cease to moan; Hie thee to the nearest drug store—Ask for "Tablets Arbolone."

II. Arbolone will stop that craving. Make thee normal—that's well known. Thou'lt forget that hungry feeling After taking Arbolone.

III. And the pounds away will dwindle—Waist no longer like a zone; Thou'lt be thankful to the maker Of these Tablets Arbolone.

Note.—This little poem was written by a literary woman of Los Angeles, Calif., as a testimonial to Tablets Arbolone. It so aptly and truthfully describes the virtues of this well-known anti-fat that the proprietors use it for advertising. Facts and gratitude are both expressed with admirable rhythm and meter.

WILL INCREASE VALUATION HERE.

Increased valuation will be put on much of Lowell's real estate this year, it is believed by members of the board of assessors, although they will not take formal action on the matter until they complete their annual inspection of property throughout the city some 10 days hence.

For the past month the assessors have been "sizing up" property throughout the city and still have 10 more days' work today. According to Albert J. Blason, chairman of the board, there has been less new building in the past year than the year previous.

The work of assessing polls will continue another month and the assessors hope to be able to have the polls ready for the city treasurer on June 1.

AT THE MARINE RECRUITING STATION

The marine recruiting station in the Odd Fellows building in Middlesex street was crowded this morning with boys from 15 years to 18 years as a result of the notice that Sergeant Anderson was ready to recruit young boys of those ages for apprentices for trumpeters and musicians' mates. As it is necessary for such boys to receive parents' consent, none of them have yet been enlisted.

Sergeant Anderson did, however, enlist two new recruits for two-year enlistments. They are John Quinn of 106 Church street and Jacob Mayorian of 41 Tyler street. Both will be sent to training camp for a period of three months and then will receive assignment for some station under the guard of the Marine Corps.

DISCUSS WATER

RATE INCREASE

Herbert H. Ball of the Lowell Textile school faculty will meet in conference this evening with the special committee on municipal finance of the Lowell chamber of commerce to advise the members of that committee as to the result of a survey of the city water department made by him Saturday and today in relation to the proposed 25 per cent increase in water rates. It is the wish of the committee to ascertain whether or not a 25 per cent increase is justifiable as stated by Commissioner Salmon and Robert Thomas, former superintendent, who recently completed an examination of the department. Mr. Ball was engaged by the chamber of commerce after a conference with Commissioner Salmon, and the former hopes to have his survey completed late today and present it to the committee tonight. John M. O'Donoghue, chairman of the special committee, believes some increase in rates is justifiable and further states that the committee does not claim that a 25 per cent increase is too much, but wishes to get Mr. Ball's advice after the latter has finished his survey.

THE INTERCHURCH

WORLD MOVEMENT

The interchurch world movement has been marked by progress in Lowell and, while only one church, the Chelmsford Street Baptist, has raised its quota, several others are in the midst of active campaigns which are assured of a successful outcome. It was announced yesterday that the Chelmsford street church has raised $6890, or about $200 over its quota. The First Baptist, still a short distance away from its quota, announces pledges totalling $92,526, which is by far the largest sum raised among any of the co-operating churches. When the First Baptist total reaches $100,000 an additional pledge of $15,000 will be forthcoming from one of the members. William T. Sheppard is director of the campaign.

The Calvary Baptist has raised $7500 of its $33,000 quota and the work there will be continued this week. The Fifth Street Baptist church will launch its drive for $10,000 the middle of the week.

A CORRECTION

In the report of the Farmers' ball, held in the Sacred Heart school hall Friday evening, it was stated that the first prize went to the "Just-a-Minute Girls." It should have read "Just-a-Moment Girls."

The war department has sold to the republic of Poland approximately 6,500,000 pounds of canned beef, for $1,527,879.

BETTER PAY FOR

UNCLE SAM'S BOYS

Chief Carey of the Naval recruiting station, received notice recently that congress has enacted the legislation which affords nearly a 50 per cent increase in pay to all men in the United States navy. All enlistments, therefore, from now on will be made under the new rates of pay which compare favorably with the money earned in civilian occupations.

A recruiting party of six world war veterans will begin their two weeks' stay in this city soon. They will come from Boston, it is expected, over the road in auto trucks owned by the navy department. The men will be under the charge of Lieut. Katz, who has seen extensive service on the seas.

POURING CEMENT FOR TROPHY HALL

Cement is now being poured for the foundation of Trophy hall, the first of the buildings making up the new memorial auditorium in East Merrimack street upon which Contractor William Drapeau is to devote his efforts. A cement mixer, a large gang of men and a series of wooden molds in which the cement is poured give indication of progress in this direction. Despite the embargo on cement, Mr. Drapeau says he has 400 bags on hand and 100 more on the way.

Rapid progress is also being made on the new high school building in Kirk street. Practically the entire site, with the exception of a portion bordering on Anne street, has been excavated preparatory to foundation work. Steel workers are engaged in getting the huge girders which have been lying on the side for several years in shape for use and a half a dozen wooden buildings have been erected by Contractor Daniel H. Walker for use while the big building is being erected.

PEACE BY RESOLUTION

U. S. Senator Walsh has rather surprised his constituents in coming out so bluntly in favor of the Knox peace resolution and against the policies of the administration relative to the peace treaty and the League of Nations. Of course he stood for the more radical reservations of the treaty, going even farther than Senator Lodge.

His attitude is, that should the democrats vote against this measure they will be accused of again blocking the declaration of peace. In other quarters, it is alleged that this peace resolve put forward by Senator Knox will not serve the purpose intended. It cannot have the effect of a treaty in securing a binding peace with Germany. Practically all that can be accomplished in this way is, a declaration by congress that the state of war with Germany and Austria is terminated. It is a function of congress to declare war, but the power to end a war and decide upon the conditions of peace is vested in the president and the senate acting in concurrence.

There is much speculation as to what the result of passing the Knox peace resolution would be. The question is asked how congress would proceed to make the resolution effective. The opponents of the measure want to know whether congress would send a delegation to notify Germany that the war was all over and to impress upon her diplomats that while we did not sign the treaty of Versailles, by this declaration of peace, we wish to bind Germany to the fulfillment of the conditions laid down in that treaty.

Certainly the proceeding is rather awkward and so far as we are aware, the course proposed would be unprecedented. After the declaration of peace would come naturally the restoration of diplomatic relations, which calls for the appointment of an ambassador and other diplomatic officials who have always been appointed by the president subject to confirmation by the senate. It can be seen, therefore, that this peace resolution falls far short of meeting the purposes of a peace treaty, laying down definite conditions and mutual relations to be followed by the appointment of the usual diplomatic functionaries.

Despite all this, however, Senator Walsh's statement that if the democrats did not vote for the Knox resolution they might be open to the charge of again opposing a declaration of peace is true. As a result of the defeat of the treaty in the senate, the president is blamed by republicans for preventing a declaration of peace. On the other hand the president blames the senate for failure to ratify the treaty in any form and on that charge he has the stronger argument. Had the senate ratified the treaty in any form the republican charge against the president would be justified.

THE MAY DAY ALARM

Happily May day passed off without any of the communistic or radical demonstrations which the Department of Justice assured the country were contemplated. Some people may say that the authorities, including Attorney General Palmer, were either unnecessarily alarmed or that they knowingly spread a false alarm. We do not believe that in times like these, any public official would descend to the expedient of crying "Wolf!" when there is no wolf. Remembering the demonstrations of last year on May 1 and undoubtedly having threats or private information of radical activities, the Department of Justice did its full duty in sending out a warning to the country. If there was any danger, the precautions taken served the purpose of defeating it; and if there wasn't, the demonstration of loyalty to constituted authority was worth all it cost.

Our own opinion is that but for the precautions taken by police authorities and big corporations there might have been outbreaks in cities or states in which the radicals are strong in numbers; but Lowell is not in this category.

It is gratifying to find that the labor union of the country are fast overcoming the influence of the radicals who entered their ranks for the purpose of promoting disturbances. This is a time when wise and conservative leadership is needed perhaps more than ever before; and the unions have already shown that they realize this fact by exhausting peaceful methods of advancing their claims before resorting to strikes. Nowhere is this condition more evident than in Lowell; and it is hoped it will be continued indefinitely.

The people who try to widen the breach between labor and capital are helping the cause of socialism. Labor must get its just dues and capital must do its full duty to labor and to the state; but the vital interests of this nation at the present hour, depend largely upon the earnest co-operation of labor and capital in promoting production as the quickest and surest method of cutting down the cost of living.

THE BONUS BILL

At the present time the indications are that the bonus bill will be defeated in congress because of the differences among the members as to how the money should be raised.

Republican leaders have made it clear that if their proposal to adopt a sales tax is not accepted by the house, they will kill the bonus bill by parliamentary tactics. Therefore, it appears that the house must accept the legislation offered by the republican leaders or else it will not have an opportunity to consider the bonus bill. It is understood that the members will be allowed to talk on the subject and then to vote on one or two propositions as dictated by the republican leaders, but they must accept the sales tax if they wish to secure the bonus bill.

In their endeavor to hold the insurgents in line, the republicans have somewhat reduced the amount of the sales tax in order to overcome the opposition, but this expedient has not been successful. The insurgents have already won many points. In the first place the republicans planned to avoid having any legislation and brought forward the bonus bill only when the insurgents and democrats forced them to consider the question. Then the leaders drafted the legislation providing a tax on turn-over sales, a tax which would encourage profiteering and add still further to the high cost of living.

Some modifications were made when it appeared that the soldiers themselves were opposed to any scheme of taxation that would seriously increase the cost of living. There is now what is tantamount to a deadlock over the matter, and as a result of the controversy over the method of raising the bonus revenue, it is possible that the whole matter will be dropped to go over perhaps till next year.

There have been various estimates of the amount that would be derived from the sales tax proposed, but on this also, there is wide difference of opinion so that the longer the question is discussed the farther congress seems to get from a proper solution.

MARSHALL VS. BRYAN

At the present time there are indications that Vice President Marshall and William J. Bryan will advocate policies diametrically opposite at the San Francisco convention. It is announced that Mr. Marshall has a strong desire to preside over the committee on resolutions in order that he may have an opportunity to shape the features of the party platform with a view to liberalizing democratic principles or, as he himself puts it, getting "back to the time-honored principles of democracy and state rights." He is emphatic in his declaration in favor of maintaining all the rights granted the sovereign states under the constitution. Although he has not so declared, it would seem that he does not believe in constitutional prohibition nor in the rigors of the Volstead act. He believes that prohibition as now enforced is an encroachment upon the rights of the states, although the United States supreme court may declare otherwise before the date of the convention.

On the other hand, William Jennings Bryan will go to the convention determined to have a declaration in the party platform endorsing constitutional prohibition. Between Marshall and Bryan as champions of opposing policies, there will be a hot fight for supremacy and one which will probably divide the convention upon the issues involved. Recently Mr. Bryan has been losing prestige in the democratic party, while Mr. Marshall has been growing more popular, particularly in Indiana and western states.

It may, therefore, be set down as a practical certainty that Messrs.

Marshall and Bryan will furnish one of the most exciting controversies likely to engage the attention of the great convention.

HOMES FOR THE PEOPLE

Statistics show that there is little relief in the house shortage in any part of this country. Moreover the construction under way is but 20 per cent devoted to homes which is 10 per cent below normal. The lack of suitable homes adds to the prevalent discontent and anything done to relieve it will help to promote industrial peace.

The shortage of homes not only adds to the financial burdens of those least able to bear them, but adds to the industrial unrest. It is for this reason that many large corporations have undertaken to build homes for their employees, the arrangement being to sell or rent them at cost to the employees who need them most.

In this respect the corporations are doing something that is greatly appreciated by their employees. In some cases, the houses are sold on condition that the employee shall make an initial payment of 10 per cent of the cost, the balance to be paid in monthly installments during a period of ten years, with a proviso that in case of sickness or other misfortune the time for payment will be extended. While in this part of the country very few dwellings are being constructed on account of the cost, hundreds of families are beginning to look to their employers for the necessary assistance in finding homes. The corporation that engages in such an undertaking will certainly win the loyalty and profound respect of its employees. The more home owners we have in this country, the fewer will be the number of malcontents.

KNOX ACCLAIMED

Senator Penrose of Philadelphia, recognized as the most powerful boss of the republican party, has come out with a strong statement in favor of Senator Knox as a candidate for president. Mr. Penrose, generally regarded as one of the old line republicans, states that Senator Knox is the best equipped, all-round international statesman to meet the requirements of the situation, and therefore the most eligible presidential candidate for the republican party. He allows that the recent primaries have not developed any paramount candidacy and that, therefore, it remains for the leaders to select one who in their judgment is suitable for the place. That is the custom followed by the leaders anyhow.

This declaration by Senator Penrose will undoubtedly cause considerable friction among the party leaders. Mr. Penrose with ex-Gov. Crane of Massachusetts, Senator Borah and a few others will probably dictate the nomination at Chicago. It is apparent that the old-line leaders are somewhat alarmed over the progress made by Hiram Johnson. They do not like Mr. Johnson for the reason that they do not believe they could control him either as a candidate or as president if he were elected. That is why Johnson is likely to be frozen out. As for General Wood, his effort to capture the delegates by storm is not likely to succeed and when the convention is reached, the leaders will be there to lay down the law as to the fitness and unfitness of candidates.

WOMAN DIES AS RESULT OF BURNS

Mrs. Mary A. Jameson, aged 60 years and residing at 223 Appleton street, died Saturday evening at St. John's hospital as a result of burns she received at her home earlier in the day. The cause of the accident is not known but it is believed the woman's clothing caught fire when she attempted to light a fire in the kitchen stove with kerosene, for when found shortly after 4 o'clock Mrs. Jameson was lying on a couch in the kitchen of her home her clothing nearly burned from her body, while some of the furniture and the wood work in the rear of the stove were ablaze.

Mrs. Jameson was rushed to St. John's hospital in the ambulance, but failed to rally. She leaves her husband, a son, Charles A. of this city, two sisters, Mrs. J. E. Corbett of this city and Mrs. Frederick Walsh of Boston and three nephews. Her body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertakers J. P. O'Donnell & Sons.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

National Chamber Holds Convention—Lowell Man on Nomination Committee

W. N. Goodell, president of the Lowell chamber of commerce, who represented the local organization at the eighth annual convention of the chamber of commerce of the United States held last week in Atlantic City, N. J., was named to serve on the committee of nominations at the business session for the acceptance of reports and election of officers. The report of this committee resulted in the election of Joseph H. Deffrees of Chicago as president to succeed Homer L. Ferguson, vice president of the Newport News Ship Building Corp., resigned.

On Monday of last week, President Goodell sat as a councillor at a special conference to present suggestions and recommendations to the convention which continued through Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

At the first session of the convention proper at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday the recommendations of the councillors were submitted and acted upon by the delegates. The opening address was made by President Ferguson.

Each afternoon of the convention was given over to group meetings, with the privilege of selecting anyone of seven groups. On Tuesday Mr. Goodell selected the group in charge of W. D. Simmons, of the Simmons Hardware Co. of St. Louis, Mo. The topic discussed was "Domestic Distribution," and among the prominent speakers were Edward A. Egan of Boston; W. O. Rutherford, vice president of the Goodrich Tire Co., of Akron, Ohio; W. H. Mann, general manager, Marshall Field & Co., Chicago, and Charles G. Parlin, manager of the department of commercial research of the Curtis Publishing Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

At 8 o'clock Tuesday evening the convention considered the general topic, "The Government in Relation to Production," and among the speakers were Joshua W. Alexander, United States secretary of commerce; Daniel C. Roper, ex-commissioner of internal revenue; George T. Buckingham of Chicago and George E. Roberts, vice president of the National City bank, New York city.

On Wednesday at 9:30 a. m. "Transportation in Relation to Production," was discussed and the delegates heard such men as George A. Post, president of the Standard Coupler Co., of New York; John H. Pardee, president of the American Electric Railways association; John M. Graham, general sales manager of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Co., and Admiral William S. Benson, chairman of the United States shipping board.

That afternoon Mr. Goodell elected to attend the conference group to consider "Industrial Production." The speakers there were Dr. Charles A. Eaton, associate editor of Leslie's Weekly; R. W. Scott of the Otis Elevator Co.; Pomeroy Burton, managing director of the London Mail, London, Eng., and Hon. Henry J. Allen, governor of Kansas.

At 8 o'clock Wednesday evening the principal speaker at the convention meeting was Sir Auckland Geddes, ambassador to the United States from Great Britain. "Agriculture in Relation to Production," was the topic under discussion following the ambassador's address. On this subject Hon. Edwin T. Meredith, United States secretary of agriculture; J. R. Howard, president of the American farm bureau federation and James H. McGraw, president of the McGraw, Hill Publishing Co., of New York, were the principal speakers.

The final session of the convention was held Thursday morning, with Matthew J. Wolf, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, and Governor Allen of Kansas as the two speakers.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Friday's issue of the Lawrence Telegram comes out with the following in a special column: "Certain residents of Lowell who lose no opportunity to shoot a dart of unvelled sarcasm at Lawrence, whenever the chance comes to them, will probably be interested in the following from J. P. C. Hayes' History of Lawrence: 'On the 2nd of July, 1848, the Lowell railway being completed, five trains were run between Lawrence and Lowell conveying passengers free. Over 5,000 people were carried over during the day. It seemed as though all Lawrence was going to Lowell and all Lowell coming to Lawrence. The Essex railway, from Lawrence to Salem, was opened for travel on the 4th of September, 1848. It brought through a load of the most quiet and orderly 'solid men' of Salem, which contrasted very favorably with the multitude of turbulent men and boys who patronized the free ride from Lowell to which we have already alluded.' Evidently the ability to shoot unvelled darts of sarcasm is not limited to residents of Lowell. I was not acquainted with the people of Lowell in 1848, nor do I believe was the Lawrence Telegram scribe who cited the above article; but if the people of Lowell were a turbulent lot then as compared with those of Lawrence, it is hardly to the credit of the latter city that today the conditions are reversed.

From sentiment I have heard expressed on the matter, it would seem that the legislature would make a popular move by changing the soldiers' and sailors' bonus act so that men who served with the British and Canadian forces or, in fact, with any of the allied forces would come in under its provisions and would be exempt from the payment of a $5 poll tax for four years as are the men who served with the forces of this country. It has been pointed out that these men, in most instances, were in France before the United States even declared war. However, as nations now stand, those who served with forces other than the United States are not entitled to the $100 state bonus and must help pay by $5 poll taxes, the cost of the bonuses distributed to the very men who fought side by side with them in France.

Bomb Plotter Ends His Life

radicals involved in the bomb outrages of last June, committed suicide early today by hurling himself from a window on the 14th floor of a Park Row office building, where the department headquarters are located.

Tazio is believed to have evaded his guard by obtaining permission to go to the wash room. While there he leaped from the window and only in his underclothes.

The Department of Justice declined to give any further information regarding the prisoner, except to say that he had confessed to a part in the June plottings and was an important witness.

Tazio was to have been given a further examination today. It is believed that he chose death in preference to testifying against other bomb plotters.

Chief William J. Flynn, of the department, said today that Tazio was one of several anarchists who were arrested in connection with the bomb explosions of June 2 and had been detained at headquarters as a government witness for six weeks.

The June bomb attacks included the homes of Judge Charles C. Holt of general sessions court in New York and Attorney General Palmer at Washington. Explosions took place in eight cities and resulted in the death of two persons.

Tazio's suicide revealed for the first time that any important arrests had ever been made in connection with the case.

Says "Tazio" An Alias
Chief Flynn said that the man's name was Andrea Salsedo and that "Tazio" was an alias.

Salsedo, who has a wife, was arrested on March 7 with several other alleged radicals. The next day, in the presence of his attorney, he signed a confession of participation in the nation-wide June bomb plots. He admitted, according to Chief Flynn, that it was he who printed the pink circulars, copies of which were found in the vicinity of homes, wrecked by the bombs. The circulars were captioned "Plain words" and were signed "Anarchist fighters." Salsedo was a printer and dweller. He was sleeping with another government witness when he got up, went to the washroom and jumped from the window without arousing his companion.

His suicide, Chief Flynn said, will not injure the government's case against other anarchists arrested for bomb explosions.

Evansville Waits For Second Act of "Rum-Ring" Drama

THIS IS "BOOZE BOAT"

That started all the trouble in Evansville

THIS IS THE CHIEF

EDGAR SCHMITT

Who bought the "Booze Boat" to run down rum runners

BY HAL COCHRAN

N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

EVANSVILLE, Ind., May 3.—Evansville is waiting a follow-up to the blow that startled the townfolk when the police boat "Panola" was caught in the act of bringing over 100 cases of whiskey from Henderson, Ky., to Evansville some months ago.

The stage for the second act of the sensational rum drama is set at Indianapolis, where federal grand jury is hearing witnesses, and where government agents expect the climax to come in the return of many indictments for the violation of the federal prohibition law.

Evidence Shows Scope

The evidence brought out at the "Booze boat" trial tends to show the scope of the government's case against city officials and others supposed to have played stellar roles in the alleged liquor "plot."

Eugene McKinney, mechanician of the "Booze boat," Van Dickerell, wealthy proprietor of a distillery at Henderson, Ky., Fred Schroeder, Eli Harp and his son Roy, and James Boner, Evansville gambler, were pinched on whiskey importation charges when the "Panola" was headed off, one dark night, by Sheriff Herbert Males.

Sentences, at that time, on all of the above, except Boner, were indefinitely withheld by Federal Judge Anderson, after they had pleaded guilty.

"Whenever we want you we'll send for you," Judge Anderson said.

Chief Denies Knowledge

Boner has just finished serving a five months' term in Marion county jail. When McKinney pleaded guilty, at the same time Boner was convicted, he testified that he was not the only member of the police force, even though he was in charge of the police boat.

Chief of Police Schmitt's story, at that time, was that he knew nothing of the officer's bringing in the liquor, and that the boat was not the police boat.

boat at the time it was picked up by the sheriff.

In the present federal investigation at Indianapolis, United States Agent George W. Green expects to land general conspiracy indictments which will hit everyone who knowingly bought or sold liquor for interstate delivery; who helped to bring it over; paid money for bringing it; agreed to furnish it, or who entered into a scheme of protection from molestation by officers of the law.

Mayor Benjamin Bosse of Evansville, in discussing the government's probe, says: "If there was anything unlawful going on in Evansville, I know nothing of it."

If indictments are returned by the grand jury at Indianapolis the last of April, as is expected, it is understood that Marshall Storen himself will serve the warrants for arrests.

Method Used Before
He will establish headquarters at Evansville, it is said, for serving the subpoenas and arranging bond. This was the method used by Storen in the famous Evansville election conspiracy cases in 1917.

WELL, 'TIS BETTER LATE THAN NEVER

The street department opened its 1920 paving season today when a gang of 11 men began tearing up a portion of Fletcher street preparatory to smooth paving it. One side of the street was completed last year, but owing to the exhaustion of funds the other side was left uncompleted and has proved a source of inconvenience during the winter and spring. The job is expected to last from three to four weeks.

FIRE LOSSES IN STATE DARLING WINS HIGH JUMP SHOW DECREASE IN BOSTON MEET

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 3.—Fire losses in this state showed a decrease of nearly $2,000,000 during the year 1919 as compared with the previous year, according to figures made public today by George C. Neal, the state fire marshal.

Relatively speaking, the city of Boston made the poorest showing of the three districts into which the commonwealth is usually divided for the purpose of comparing fire losses, while that portion of the state which is not included in the metropolitan fire prevention district made the best.

The total fire loss for the state was $10,496,326.61 during 1919, as compared with $11,598,455.58 for 1918, a reduction of $1,097,758.97.

For the state outside of the metropolitan fire prevention district the figures were $7,025,822.87 in 1918, and $5,731,148.21 in 1919, a reduction of $1,294,674.66, or 18.5 per cent.

With the metropolitan district except Boston included, the figures were $2,827,243.22 in 1918 and $2,556,951.26 in 1919, a reduction of $270,292.00, or 9.5 per cent.

This increase in Boston is partially accounted for by the fact that the city had 1918 fires last year, an increase of 135 over the previous year, while outside of Boston there were 1054 fires, a decrease of 54.

Eighty per cent of the premiums in the United States at present are paid less than $20 a week.

The Lowell boy, had a winning leap of 5 feet 6 inches. He defeated Frankie of B.C. high school and Carson of Brookline, the latter being the boy who took the Lowell jumper's measure at the state championship games at the East army in March.

SAVED FROM DEATH BY CHINESE PRINCE

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—"Hope was feeling fast. Just as the last barricade was falling a trap door suddenly opened beneath their feet and they were thrown heavily into the darkness below."

Sounds like a movie but it isn't. This was the experience of Mrs. James B. Blum who, with her husband, was caught in the thick of a battle between Chinese revolutionists and federal troops at Canton. They took refuge behind a brick wall, and were saved from certain death in the manner described above. Their rescuer turned out to be Ho See Won, a young Chinese prince who had pulled them down into an opium den.

BREAK ON ADRIATIC QUESTION IMMINENT

ROME, May 2.—Negotiations between Vittorio Scialoja, Italian foreign minister and Anton Trumbitch, foreign minister of Jugoslavia, looking to the settlement of the Adriatic question, may be broken off, according to the Popolo Romano. Signor Scialoja returned here from Lago Maggiore, where he had been conferring with M. Trumbitch and Stoyan Protitch, Jugoslavian premier, on Saturday, and the newspaper asserts the representatives of Jugoslavia have informed the Italian foreign minister that they were no longer authorized to negotiate on the Adriatic question on the basis of conversations which have been going on.

It is understood President Wilson's plan for a settlement of the future status of Fiume had been adopted at the meeting of the Italian and Jugoslavian representatives.

Grandmother's Old-Fashioned Sulphur and Molasses Did It.

But Not So Well As This Sulphur Tablet—Sugar Coated.

Through the winter the blood accumulates poisons because you do not perspire enough, because you do not live in the open air, and because you eat more meat, much and other rich foods. Every spring we feel sluggish, constipated, liver and kidney ills beset us, colds and chronic coughs, pimples, boils and carbuncles, all evidence of impure, thick, sluggish blood.

Sulphur Tablets (not sulphur tablets) are composed of extracts of roots and herbs, combined with sulphur and cream of tartar—and no better physic, blood-tonic and blood cleanser has ever been developed. Every spring thousands who already know their value take them to purify the system of Winter Poisons. Now is the time to begin, so you won't be attacked by serious ailments when Spring and Summer come. Sold by all druggists 60c per sealed tube with full directions.

THE WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION LAW

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, May 3.—A person who works for another with his own horse and team and is employed by reason of his ownership of the equipment has no rights under the workmen's compensation law, according to a decision of the Industrial Accident board. Such a person is regarded by the board as an independent contractor and not as an employee within the meaning of the act.

The decision was rendered on a claim of John Rysek of Adams, who sought compensation for having been injured in the course of his work for the Knox Adams company. Last December, Rysek, whose ordinary occupation was farming, let his services and those of his two horses and team to the Adams company for the purpose of hauling stone. Part of the route to the railroad line where the stone was being hauled lay over two hills, one of them very steep. He expressed to the foreman unwillingness to drive the heavy loads of stone down

A 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent

They Have Found the Way to Beautiful Teeth

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

Dental science has found a way to combat film on teeth. It has been tested for years by able authorities in clinical and laboratory tests. Now leading dentists everywhere advise its daily use.

The method is embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. This week we offer a 10-Day Tube to every home in this city, and we urge every home to get it. Let it prove itself.

Film is What Discolors

You can feel on your teeth a slimy film. It is ever-present, ever-forming. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays.

The tooth brush doesn't end it. The ordinary dentifrice cannot dissolve it. So it accumulates and may do a ceaseless damage.

Most tooth troubles are now traced to that film. And now it is known why brushed teeth still discolor and decay. The reason lies in that clinging film which the old cleaning methods omit.

Cause of Decay

That film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Thus the film is the teeth's chief enemy.

It Can Be Ended

Dental science has for years sought a way to end that film, and the way has now been found.

Pepsodent is based on pepain, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to constantly combat it.

The way seems simple, but it is not. Pepain must be activated. The usual method is an acid harmful to the teeth, so pepain long seemed impossible.

What has been found is a harmless activating method. Now pepain can be applied twice daily and left between the teeth. And millions of teeth are now being cleaned as they never were before.

Watch the Effects

We ask you to watch the effects. Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how teeth whiten as the fixed film disappears.

Compare this method with the old. Read the facts about it. Then decide for yourself what is best.

Tartar and Stain are based on film. This 10-Day Tube will show you that they are avoidable. And so is tooth decay.

Look in Ten Days See how white the teeth are—how they gleam. You can see that the film is gone. You will know that teeth can be kept forever whiter and cleaner and safer.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

"THE BIRD-OF-PARADISE"

The brown bird (who said she was the Bird-of-Paradise) was so delighted at the picture of herself—as she was going to be when she was fixed up—that she kept saying, "Won't I look wonderful! Won't people be astonished when they see me looking like that!"

"Why!" said Nancy in surprise, "Don't you always look like that when you haven't on your brown traveling clothes? That's what you said a while ago."

"Oh, yes! I forgot," said the bird. "Of course I do. Now please begin on my new dress at once, will you? I didn't come to Scrub-Up Land to talk."

So Nick and Nancy and Rubadub, the fairyman, got busy right away priming up the stranger, who said she was the Bird-of-Paradise.

First of all they painted her bill sky blue (just like the picture), then her feet they made a lovely pink (just like the picture, too). Her body they colored purple, and white and gold and green, and then fastened long orange-colored plumes below her wings (all just like the picture).

Last of all they shook gold and silver powder over her, and behold what a gorgeous creature the little brown bird had become! Cinderella changed into a princess!

All at once she caught a view of herself in the mirror. "Oh!" she cried, "is that really me?" Then sharply, "Open the shutters, somebody. How do you expect me to see in this awful gloom?"

"But you said the light hurt your eyes," reminded Nick.

"Well, what if I did? They're better!"

Good gracious, do I have to explain everything I do?"

"My! my!" remarked the Magical Mushroom, "some people do certainly change their manners with their clothes, don't they?"

"Do stop talking," answered the bird haughtily, "and show me how to hold up my train. I must be going."

The EDDY REFRIGERATOR

HAS HELD THE SUPREMACY OF THE REFRIGERATOR WORLD

Three generations have bought Eddy Refrigerators. If there has been one used by any members of the family you can't sell them anything else. It lasts a life-time and pays for itself many times over by requiring less ice than a cheaper make would. Why buy anything else. The walls are twice as thick as any ordinary one and those opening at the top have double cover. So it stands to reason it will keep out the heat and keep the cold better. Use less ice and keep food better. The chests are priced from $12.75 to $58.00. The Refrigerators from $22.00 to $92.00. A good family size for $38.00 and $43.50.

POLICE COURT

Two Automobilists Arraigned
on Charge of Drunkenness

Twelve cases were called at this morning's session of the police court, but business in each was brisk. Over the week-end eight drunkards were released by the probation officer.

The case of Wladyslaw Taraszkewicz, charged with being drunk and operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor and who was released yesterday under $300 bail, was continued to May 10. It is alleged that Wladyslaw was driving his auto along Westford street and collided with another at the intersection of Smith street, and that his machine then glided into another. This second machine struck was pushed into another machine just ahead of it. Taraszkewicz's automobile escaped without damage. The other machines struck were owned by George K. Hill of 510 Varnum street, Chelmsford Centre, and Adelbert Ames of Lowell street, Chelmsford Centre. The machine owned by Hill was badly damaged and he and a companion, Axel H. Abrahamson, were cut about the head and face. The accident occurred yesterday afternoon.

Another Collision

The case of Omer Savignac of 335 West street, charged with operating his automobile while under the influence of liquor yesterday afternoon, was continued until May 11.

Savignac's machine collided with the machine owned by David Cohen of 380 Terry street, Malden, at Chelmsford and Westford streets yesterday afternoon. The Cohen machine was damaged about the mudguards and engine and its occupants claimed that they had to drive nearly up to the sidewalk to try to avoid Savignac.

Larceny Charge

Abraham J. Lewis of Boston was charged with the larceny of $52 from the person of Parnag Havaspian, and his case continued until May 11. It is alleged that Lewis had an accomplice in his act which was committed as Havaspian was boarding a train at the Middlesex street depot.

Other Offenses

Charged with being present during a game on the Lord's day, George B. Brown, Agnes Patulogios, Harry Haulos and Samuel Albert pleaded guilty and were released upon payment of $5 fines.

David J. Williams of Tewksbury brought suit against William C. Ross of Charlestown, whom he claims borrowed an auto chair from him and never returned it. Ross' truck, it seems, during the winter became stuck on the Boston road in the snow and mud and Ross secured the loan of a chain from Williams. Ross claims that he gave the chain to the care of an employee of an express company to be returned to the owner.

After considerable protestation by the defendant, the court decided that inasmuch as Ross had ample time to obey the instructions of the clerk of the court in obtaining witnesses and had failed to do so, the case should be completed today and so imposed a fine of $10. Ross appealed the case and was held in $200 for his appearance on the first Monday in June. Before imposing the fine, the court gave the defendant another chance to continue the case to obtain his witnesses, but he refused.

The case of William Stack, charged with larceny from the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company, called today for further consideration, was dismissed. George F. Toye, for the defense, brought in the argument that the alleged larceny could not have been made from the Eastern Massachusetts street railway because that company was not in existence at that time.

Two men charged with drunkenness were released upon consideration by the court.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

As this is the first meeting since the outline of the campaign organization, it is hoped that every leader will be present.
